Parties bury the hatchet to go after Hamas; India launches Op Ajay for those who wish to return home from Israel

Gaza powerless; Oppn joins Israel wartime cabinet

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

AMID intense fightback against the massacre by Hamas, Israel's deeply fractured polity demonstrated rare political unity as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and opposition leader Benny Gantz on Wednesday agreed to create a wartime cabinet to give the terrorists a fitting response.

The new wartime cabinet will consist of Netanyahu, former defence minister Gantz, and current defence minister Yoav Gallant. The new Cabinet will only deal with the war. The rest of the existing cabinet of the ruling coalition comprising far-right and ultra-Orthodox representatives, will function as usual.

Not the entire opposition is on the same page yet, as Israel's main opposition leader, Yair Lapid, is yet to give his consent to join the war cabinet.

The Gaza Strip ruled by Hamas is already powerless as its lone power plant is out of fuel with little scope for replenishment due to Israel's blockade of the 40 km-long strip wedged within Israel, Egypt and the Mediterranean Sea.

Israeli airstrikes demolished entire neighbourhoods in Gaza that has a population of 2.3 million. Besides, nine UN staffers in Palestine have been killed in retaliatory Israeli airstrikes on Gaza. Hamas fighters have an estimated 150 hostages, including soldiers, women and children and the elderly.

There was still some fighting reported in Israel. Its troops swept every house in Gaza border communities of Kibbutz Be'eri and Re'im to flush out Hamas fighters. In Be'eri, they killed 108 Hamas men.

Hamas claimed Israeli airstrikes on the family house of Mohammad Deif, the leader of Hamas's military wing, killed his father, brother and at least two other relatives in the southern town of Khan Younis.

Back home, India established a control room for its citizens in both Israel and Palestine (see box). Later in the day, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar announced the launch of Operation Ajay to facilitate the return from Israel of those Indians who wish to come home. "Launching #OperationAjay to facilitate the return from Israel of our citizens who wish to return," Jaishankar posted on X. "Special charter flights and other arrangements being put in place. Fully committed to the safety and wellbeing of our nationals abroad," he said.

Nepal, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, too, are preparing to evacuate their nationals. P14

TALKS ON OVER SAFE CIVILIAN PASSAGE: U.S.

The US is in active talks to allow for safe passage out of Gaza for civilians, White House National Security spokesman John Kirby said Wednesday. "We are having active conversations about trying to allow for that safe passage. It's the civilians who did nothing wrong so we want to make sure they have a way out," Kirby said. meanwhile, Arab foreign ministers called for an immediate ceasefire between Israel and Hamas. The call came in a statement after their meeting at the Arab League headquarters in Cairo, which was called by the Palestinians to discuss the war. It condemned the killing of civilians on both sides and called for the release of all detainees held by Israel or Hamas

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR BRUTALITY: URSULA

Lighting into Hamas for its brutality, European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen in a hard-hitting statement said, "There can be no justification for Hamas' act of terror. This has nothing to do with the legitimate aspirations of the Palestinian people. The horror that Hamas has unleashed will bring more suffering upon innocent Palestinians. Only Hamas is responsible for its actions." These innocents were killed for for one single reason — they were Jewish and lived in Israel, she said. "We have to be clear in defining this kind of horror. It is terrorism. And it is an act of war."

Pathankot attack kingpin gunned down in Pakistan

UPA GOVT RELEASED LATIF FROM PRISON

Latif, who spent 16 years in Indian jail was released by UPA as a goodwill gesture in 2010. After release, he was deported to Pakistan via Wagah border. He played a main role in organising the Pathankot attack that killed seven airmen when four terrorists sneaked into the airbase. The siege went on for three days

INDIA'S most wanted terrorist Shahid Latif of the Jaish-e-Mohammad, who was the mastermind of the 2016 Pathankot Air Force Station attack, was shot dead by three gunmen outside a mosque at Daska town in Sialkot of Pakistan. He was wanted by the National Investigative Agency (NIA) in an Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA) case.

Three motorcycle-borne men fired indiscriminately killing Latif, who was coming out of the mosque after prayers. His brother Haris Hashim was also killed on the spot and another person was injured, said sources, and added that Latif had been involved in planning, facilitation and execution of terror attacks in India. Latif, 53, was also known as Bilal alias Noor Al Din.

He had infiltrated into the Kashmir valley in 1993 and was arrested in 1994 from Jammu. Latif was in the Jammu jail with Masood Azhar, founder of Jaish, till 2010.

He played a pivotal role in orchestrating the Pathankot attack on January 2, 2016 where seven IAF personnel were killed after four Jaish terrorists sneaked into the airbase. The siege went on for three days.

Latif hailed from Aminabad in Gujranwala of Punjab in Pakistan and he was charge-sheeted by NIA along with Jaish founder Masood Azhar for carrying out the attack on the Pathankot airbase. In its chargesheet, the NIA had stated that Latif along with other Jaish members shared the map of the airbase with the attackers and said the base was vulnerable due to its location around forests.

Latif was among those whose release was sought by the hijackers of the Indian Airlines flight IC814 in 1999. The demand was rejected.

CBI's turn to go after NewsClick editor, claims it violated FCRA

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AFTER the Enforcement Directorate, it was the CBI's turn on Wednesday to raid NewsClick founder-editor Prabir Purkayastha's office and residence over alleged violation of the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act.

The CBI in a statement said, "It was alleged that the said private company had received unexplained export remittance of ₹28.46 crore through four foreign entities in violation of FCRA provisions and there was also an unexplained receipt of foreign fund of ₹9.59 crore by incorrect characterisation of the fund as FDI."

The FIR has also named American billionaire Neville Roy Singham, who runs an IT consultancy firm. NewsClick in a post said CBI is the fifth agency that is investigating it and denied all allegations against it.

The Delhi Police in its case against the portal had alleged that the funds were infused into NewsClick by a member of Communist Party of China and Neville Roy Singham.

NewsClick had hit the headlines after the New York Times reported that it received funds from Singham for allegedly running pro-Chinese propaganda. The Delhi Police Special Cell had on October 3 arrested Purkayastha and the human resources department head of the portal, Amit Chakravarty, in a case under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act.

No clarity on 41 Canadian diplomats leaving India

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

HAVE any of the 41 'excess' Canadian diplomats been posted out yet after India insisted on parity? While earlier reports suggested some of them have been evacuated or shifted out, London's Financial Times claimed no Canadian diplomat has left India so far.

Both the Ministry of External Affairs and the Canadian High Commission in New Delhi refrained from making any comments.

The UK daily also claimed that External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar held talks with his Canadian counterpart Melanie Joly in New York on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly to resolve bilateral differences after Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau had alleged India's involvement in the killing Khalistani extremist Hardeep Singh Nijjar.

"We want parity as Canadian diplomats are seen interfering in our internal matters. Therefore, we would like the Canadian missions to downsize," MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi had said earlier.

Meanwhile, Trudeau has been making phone calls to various heads of state — including British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak, Jordanian king Abdullah II bin Al-Hussein and UAE President Mohamed Bin Zayed. He mentioned the Nijjar killing in all his conversations and spoke about the India-Canada diplomatic row.

Gold prices skyrocket as conflict rages in West Asia

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

GOLD prices have been skyrocketing ever since the conflict between Israel and Hamas began in West Asia. This is happening ahead of the festive season in India — Dasara in October and Deepavali in November — when more people buy gold as these months are considered auspicious.

The gold price, which is Rs 58,680 for 10gm (24 carat), is likely to touch Rs 70,000 soon.

Likewise, the price of 22 carat gold, which has now crossed Rs 53,000 for 10gm, might go up to Rs 60,000 in the coming days. "Any war will have an impact on gold prices. We are expecting this to last for a few weeks. This apart, the interest rate hike in the US also pushed the prices of yellow metal up," according to TA Saravana, president of Karnataka Gold Jewelers' Association.

CA Surendra Mehta, national secretary of India Bullion and Jewellers' Association, attributed the increasing prices of gold to the conflict in West Asia. In fact, gold prices, which saw a downward trend a few days ago, started shooting up with the conflict in West Asia continuing, he said.

He said whenever there is geopolitical trouble or trade tension, investors prefer to invest in gold as the equity market will be down. Gold is the only commodity whose prices remain stable despite economic upheavals, and with a speculation, investors invest in the yellow metal. CONTINUED ON: P7

Rain doesn't spare T2, leaves puddles on Level 1

Water enters offices of Indigo, Vistara, ground handling firm Celebi Aviation, leak in ceiling rectified, says staff

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

FLYERS and airport employees faced inconvenience at the Rs 5,000-crore Terminal 2 of Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) on Monday owing to heavy rain.

All international operations were shifted to Terminal 2 on September 12. Leaking roof of the terminal's Middle Level had rainwater on the floor.

Airport sources confirmed waterlogging at the terminal because of heavy rain. A source said, "The airport has three levels, the Ground, Level 1 and Level 2. With Level 1 impacted, water entered the offices of Indigo, Vistara and ground handling firm Celebi Aviation. This led to chaos there for some time."

The sources said that one portion of the terminal was affected. "The problem was rectified the following day. Heavy rain on Tuesday did not cause any problem," they added.

A Bangalorean @arjunvis, who was upset as his Emirates flight (EK 566) was made to hover over the airport on Monday and not allowed to land, posted on x:

"By the way the airport looks like a puddle filled mess. Clearly not prospered for rain to land flights and keep the airport dry. Poor first impressions for visitors."

In an earlier post, he said, "@BLRAirport a little rain and you guys can't permit planes to land and on top of that not letting us deplane. What's going on guys for all the claims of being an international airport @emirates terrible."

The aesthetics of the airport earns wholesome praise from many visitors with actor R Madhavan lauding its exotic and efficient infrastructure recently. It may be recalled that the classy Sir M Visvesvaraya railway terminal at Baiyappanahalli, modelled on the KIA, had its roof leaking with the ceiling giving away during rain on May 30.

VARTHUR SEWAGE CHANNEL BREACHES

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

JUST two days after people were stranded at Kariyammana Agrahara on the Outer Ring Road (ORR) due to heavy rains, an incident of breach of sewage diversion channel near Varthur Lake was reported on Wednesday.

Officials suspect that local farmers have deliberately caused breach of sewage diversion channel so that their 'dry borewells' located in the lake's vicinity are recharged.

Jagadish Reddy, a lake activist who is part of Varthur Raising, said, "The diversion channel from Balagere village side was breached on Monday and all the water gushed into Varthur which is being de-silted."

"Heavy rain on Sunday and Monday resulted in the weakening of the existing channel. Due to the heavy water currents, the loose soil gave away, causing the breach," Reddy said and added that the Varthur Lake rejuvenation project, where 98 percent of desilting work was completed, will take a hit after this breach.

BDA Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) Aravind SS told that officials have been deployed on site where the channel was breached.

"We also have opened the outlet at Varthur Kodi to drain out water. As of now, there is no threat to the lake. The agency which was roped in to create and maintain the diversion channel will restore it, and take up the 80 acres of wetland improvement work," said Aravind SS.

"Many small-time farmers who are into horticulture and grow flowers, had asked to fill up the lake to recharge their dry borewells, this is why, the timing of the breach raises doubts," stressed Aravind.

He also added that the works on the improvement of wetlands will be delayed by at least two months as the water has to be drained out and wait till the land becomes dry.

Panel urges KSRTC to consider retired staff for hike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

URGING the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) to consider the employees who retired between January 2020 and February 2023 for the 'revised pay', the Joint Action Committee of Trade Unions of KSRTC will stage a protest at Freedom Park on October 19.

The committee, led by KSRTC Staff and Workers Federation president Ananth Subbarao, in a letter addressed to KSRTC MD Anbu Kumar on October 10 said, "A Government Order issued in March this year ordered a 15-per cent increase in basic pay for all employees as on December 31, 2019. However, from January 2020 to February 2023, various employees attached to the four bus corporations - KSRTC, BMTC, NWKSRTC, and KKRTC - have retired, with some opting for self-retirement, while some have also passed away. There is no pay revision for these employees."

In the previous pay revisions, these categories of employees were considered for pay revision and they were entitled to benefits - pay increment, pending arrears, and retirement benefits, Subbarao explained.

Need better govt policies to improve state's economic status: Priyank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH Karnataka aiming to achieve the one trillion economy target in the next decade, the Minister for Electronics, IT/BT and Rural Development and Panchayati Raj, Priyank Kharge, highlighted the need to issue better government policies to ensure ease of business for entrepreneurs.

Citing examples of companies like Ola and Uber, Kharge said, "No defined policies are there for running such aggregator businesses. There is a need to ensure that absence of government policies does not hinder smooth functioning of businesses, and the new policies support their growth."

Despite one-third of the tech workforce coming from here, employment is low due to lack of skills, he added while addressing the 'Transforming Tech, Transforming Life' business conclave in Bengaluru on Wednesday. The minister added that the government will set up centres of excellence (CoE), global innovation alliance and public procurement policy to help entrepreneurs scale their businesses. Though Karnataka has a 200 billion dollar startup ecosystem, there is a need to make the state ready for utilising emerging technologies across sectors.

The government will also start a skill advisory committee to help train and upskill people to better the employment rate, as they believe people are not employable despite being educated. The state of Israel was the conference partner for organising the conclave, however, no Israeli delegates attended due to the current scenario in the country.

The FICCI, released a report in association with the government providing them 260 suggestions for growth and better policy making in the sectors of agriculture, mining, manufacturing, education, rural and urban development and natural resource management. K Ullas Kamath, Chairman of FICCI Karnataka State Council, explained that the report provides a roadmap for creating necessary government policy interventions and public-private partnerships to improve the state's economic status. FICCI has adopted strategies from better performing states like Maharashtra, Gujarat and Orissa to improve state policies.

Manipur youth seek safety and new life in B'luru

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

SCORES of victims from strife-torn areas of Manipur have reached Bengaluru and other cities, seeking help, and have found many groups coming forward, offering relief. Youngsters who discontinued their Plus2 or graduate degrees at various institutions in Manipur since May this year, when violence broke out, have landed in Bengaluru over the past few weeks and are looking for some sort of employment to support themselves.

One Bengalurean who stepped up to support the students, said they need basic essentials. Many have offered clothing, food, shelter, stationery and so on, and people are volunteering to help them, even teaching them basic soft skills or English. Since many have been victims of extreme violence, there is a need for counsellors too, sources said.

Bengalurean Nishant Sharma told TNIE, "I have informed our apartment complex and two other neighbouring complexes and we will collect soap, toiletries, toothbrushes, toothpaste and other essentials to give them." Sudarshan J, another Bengalurean, also volunteered to help with basic essentials.

The government of Karnataka is considering helping these young victims, 99 per cent of whom have suffered PTSD because they have witnessed so much bloodshed and killing. The issue has come to the notice of the CMO.

When contacted, minister and working president KPCC Eshwar Khandre told TNIE, "We from the government and Congress party will support them. They are victims of an unfortunate ethnic clash and on humanitarian grounds, we will do what we can to support them. I will raise this issue with the government and party. I wish to recall that when the BJP government was in power in 2012, northeasterners fled Bengaluru in what was called the 'Northeasterners Exodus' which we all remember. Now in 2023, when the BJP is in power in Manipur, Manipuris are coming back to Bengaluru and we will do what we can to support them both from the party and government."

BJP state general secretary and MLC Ravi Kumar said, "I will take up this issue with the party and government and we will support them. It is a serious problem and they need help, and we will help them."

12TH October: More far-out news from the world of science. I mentioned yesterday the theory that atoms in our brains and bodies are permanently linked to atoms on other planets. Just in case you think I'm mad, this theory is known as 'quantum entanglement' and, within a few years, your home computer will be operating on this very principle.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This is one of those times when all your normal standards and preconceptions need to be put on hold. There is no point in either judging yourself or criticising other people according to what happened in the past. If ever there was a time to live in the present, this is it!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The planetary clarion call is to be adventurous. However, for many of you, three areas of your life stand out: legal questions, travel plans and higher education. In all these matters you should take very detailed notice of your own situation and set out to offer others a helping hand.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Don't be confused by the fact that money seems to be so important. The vital issue now is your values system, and the judgments you make both on yourself and other people. Try to be aware of the ways in which this is shaping your relationships.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You seem to be suffering from a strange desire to rake over the coals, fanning the flames of some old argument or dispute. Whether you go ahead or not is your choice, but it may be worth looking at the possible consequences before you make a start.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
From your solar chart it looks as if you are entering the realms of imagination and mystery which take you further into your dreams than ever before. Watch out for confusion in the so-called real world and take care at work, but enjoy your fantasies.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It is artistic Virgos who are best fitted to survive the week - and find the success you all deserve. You may not count yourself amongst this select group, but you'd be wrong. There are a hundred and one ways to develop your untapped creative potential, so get on with it!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
It is impossible to tell whether it is home and family life or professional and worldly ambitions which require the most attention. All that is certain is that twenty-six hours in the day are not sufficient to deal with all that you have on your plate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Whatever you do, select an adventurous path. Don't take risks, but do extend yourself in areas as yet unknown to you. In some strange way an overseas connection, perhaps from the past, is about to acquire an increasing significance. Perhaps the world will come knocking at your door.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your own finances are inextricably linked to other people's and the consequences right now seem to be two-fold. First, you must realise that your actions will have a profound effect on other people. Second, there may be some developments which lie ultimately outside your control.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
For the fourth day running you can benefit from inspired planetary alignments but you may also be somewhat muddled, if only because new options are opening up. Your best policy is to be as adaptable as possible, for if you bend with the wind you should do very well indeed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It is time to take your physical state in hand, making sure that you have enough relaxation and that you are getting the diet and exercise appropriate to your circumstances. Get in shape for the future now and hang on to - or restore - your youth.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Something rather theatrical is stirring in your soul, and over the next few days you may be carried to heights of romantic endeavour. Always remember that at such times you run the risk of disappointment, so keep at least one foot partially on the ground!

Cyber criminal defrauds MBA student of ₹5L

Suspect sends victim fake SMS of pending electicity bill, steals money in seconds

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

IN a matter of some seconds, a 27-year-old MBA student from Odisha lost nearly Rs 5 lakh of her savings to a cyber criminal, after she received an SMS about a pending electricity bill.

She was reportedly told that the non-payment of the bill within an hour would result in the power to her residence being cut. Unaware that the communication was part of an elaborate fraud, she spoke to the accused and followed his instructions, and ended up losing most of her savings within 5-10 seconds. Speaking to TNIE, the victim, identified as Priya (name changed), said that the accused spoke to her for sometime and got her to follow his instructions. She had a pending electricity bill of around Rs 1,585, and ended up losing a huge sum of money.

The incident occurred on Saturday and a police complaint was filed on Monday. Priya was at home on 4th Cross, Amruthahalli, when she received a text message on her phone around 5.16 pm, stating that she had to contact a customer care number immediately, asking her to clear her pending bill. The accused had shared a mobile number as the customer care number.

"I called the number and the accused asked me to download some electricity statement app. I immediately downloaded it. He sent me a link and asked me to click on it and to fill in details. The app was a screen-mirroring app, and I unknowingly gave the accused access to control my phone. I started getting OTPs, which were getting redirected to the accused's mobile phone. By using three OTPs, he transferred money from my savings to his bank account. In no time, I lost Rs 4,99,986. Realising what was happening, I disconnected the call and transferred my remaining money to another bank account," she said.

She also raised a complaint with the cybercrime helpline. Amruthahalli police have traced the call to West Bengal, but are yet to arrest the accused.

Mental health low on priority list, therapy deemed expensive

GARGI DESHPANDE @ Bengaluru

POSITIVE mental health is crucial and profoundly impacts every aspect of life, but remains a low priority issue. Even after mental health has made it to dinner table conversations, Indians are still apprehensive about getting help. A recent study conducted by a mental health community, Amaha Health, in association with Youth Ki Awaaz, found that up to 40 per cent of people who seek help for mental health issues do so pretty late, because they consider treatment too expensive. TNIE tries to find out why therapy is considered expensive.

Clinical psychologist Sunny Joseph said therapy charges are considered high because mental health is not a priority for people. "When people suffer from physical ailments, they immediately go to a doctor, but don't think mental health is a priority and neglect it. The ratio of therapists to patients is extremely skewed, and over an hour is invested in each patient. Per hour charges are applied, which is why it may seem expensive." He added that while online sessions are convenient, he prefers in-person sessions because they are crucial in the healing process.

A young adult, on condition of anonymity, said, "I went to many therapists before I found the right one who would understand and help me. I would prefer a delay in help to the wrong kind."

The average age group of people seeking help is between 25 and 40, and one session lasting between 50 minutes to one hour can cost between Rs 1,500 and Rs 2,500. Doctors also observed that many people find it difficult to stick to the treatment plan.

Shuchi Sen, consultant psychotherapist at Amaha Health, said, "I have seen clients drop out of therapy not only because of the cost, but also because it is hard to give that kind of time and effort. I believe therapy is expensive not because of the consultation fee but because of the commitment and regularity it demands to achieve the desired goals."

With various platforms and counsellors/psychotherapists offering offline and online therapy, clients now have a wide range of options, based on fee structure, unlike in the past.

Dr Athulya Jayakumar from Therapeute said the price needs to be compared in relativity. "A doctor who spends 10 minutes on a patient may charge less than the one spending an hour. Also, when you compare prices with other countries, India is among the most affordable, which is why clients from other countries seek online sessions with us."

Poor mental health is proven to have adverse effects on your physical health and reduce your confidence as an individual, which is why mental health needs to be made a priority, said Jeevita, another trainee counsellor. "Asking for help is a sign of strength. The earlier someone is diagnosed, better are the chances of full recovery."

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 20-year-old man working in a jewellery shop, who stole 1.2kg of gold ornaments and cooked up a robbery story, has been arrested by the Halasuru Gate police.

The accused, Lal Singh (20), and his associate Raju alias Rajpal (23), are said to be from Rajasthan. Raju is a professional criminal and is involved many crimes including an attempt to murder case in Rajasthan.

Police said that Singh was sent to Nellore in Andhra Pradesh by his employer on September 28 to hand over the ornaments to a jewellery shop. However, he handed the ornaments to his associates, and then called his employer stating that he was robbed of the ornaments at gunpoint by dacoits in Nellore.

'47 cases registered against unauthorised advertisers'

THE bench was hearing a batch of public interest litigations.

Senior counsel Ravivarma Kumar, representing a petitioner, submitted that the casual approach of the Palike not only led to a huge loss of revenue but also to rampant growth of illegal advertisements. The menace of hoardings is also defacing the city.

He argued that hundreds of hoardings have been erected on flyovers and the Palike officials are hand-in-glove with the advertisers. Then the court orally observed that thousands of crores of rupees are lost and that is why the counsel is pointing it out. It is a loss to the Palike. To overcome this loss, the Palike will burden citizens with additional taxes. Therefore, the BBMP is the first enemy of the city, the court said.

Meanwhile, the Palike filed its response stating that it has registered 47 cases against unauthorised advertisers and collected a penalty of Rs 5.12 lakh from them in all eight zones after the court passed its order on August 2. This was after surveying sub-arterial roads of approximately 1,400 km in the first phase. A survey of other roads will be conducted in the second phase.

Based on the court's directive on the previous date of hearing, 242 show cause notices have been issued to errant officials in seven zones for dereliction of duty or for being slow and lethargic in performing their duties, the Palike stated.

SHORT OF POWER, STATE LOOKS TO CENTRE FOR MORE COAL SUPPLY

George seeks bigger share from central stations, says demand up by 5-7K MW a day

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WITH Karnataka staring at a power crisis, Energy Minister KJ George rushed to Delhi with a team of officials to hold a meeting with the Union ministry to flag the issue and seek more coal.

The state government on Wednesday presented its case before the Centre, seeking an additional two rakes of coal.

"We have no shortage. We are using the coal as we get on a daily basis. Consumption has increased as demand has increased. To be in a little comfortable situation and increase electricity generation to meet the demand, we have requested for two more rakes of coal. The Centre has agreed, but has also expressed apprehension as the power situation across the country is grim. The quality of coal is also a matter of concern as it has been raining in the Nagpur belt, hence production is not to the fullest," sources in the department told The New Indian Express.

At the meeting, George also requested Union Minister for Power, New and Renewable Energy RK Singh to increase Karnataka's share in the central generating stations, as the demand for power has shot up by 5000-7000MW on a daily basis.

According to Energy department records, the state currently has around 1.7-2 lakh tonnes of coal which is being used in three thermal power stations on a daily basis. Karnataka is getting 13-14 rakes of coal per day (each rake holds around 4,000 tonnes) from Odisha, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra. The state is generating 2,118MW of thermal power daily. As on Wednesday, against the installed capacity of 11336.6MW, the state is generating 5919MW of power from its installed hydro and thermal units.

"We are working to see how we can get more coal. This year, none of the thermal stations were shut. Now, due to poor monsoon and poor renewable energy generation, the demand for thermal energy has shot up. In the past five years, there has been no increase in installed capacity. We thought we have surplus power and were banking on renewable energy (RE) as a prime source. Post-Covid, with growth in the economy, the demand for power too has increased. But the monsoon has been poor and RE generation has dipped, so the situation has turned grim," sources said.

Erratic power supply: Farmers stage indefinite stir

MYSURU: Enraged over the erratic power supply to irrigation pumpsets, Federation of Farmers Associations activists have started an indefinite stir in front of the Deputy Commissioner's office in Chamarajanagar. They raised slogans against the government and CESCOM officials as their standing crops dried up due to low power supply. Farmer leader Mahesh Prabhu said CESCOM is supplying just 1-2 hours of power for IP sets, leaving farmers in the lurch. He said the government should intervene and direct authorities to provide 10 hours of power supply in the district, which has 75,000 IP sets. The farmers warned that they will gherao elected representatives if their demands are not met, and will lay siege to the CESCOM office on October 19.

Weak winds in Gadag result in power shortage

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

WEAK wind speeds have come as a bane for farmers in Gadag and surrounding areas, who are facing frequent power cuts since the last few days. According to HESCOM sources, it is estimated that 735 mw of electricity should have been generated a day, but only 25 mw is being generated at the moment. As a result, the rural areas are witnessing protests from farmers.

HESCOM officials said electricity production has decreased to over 50% in the district and irregular load-shedding has become a necessary step. Gadag's Galigundi Basavanna at Kappatagudda and other places experience fast winds, but for the last few days, they are witnessing weak winds. It may be noted that a large amount of power supplied in Gadag is generated through wind energy (wind turbines).

Farmers of all taluks in Gadag have come out in protest seeking uninterrupted power supply. In Gajendragad, a group of farmers gheraoed the HESCOM office and started an indefinite protest, farmers in Mundargi stopped traffic on the Challakere-Arabhavi highway, and Ron taluk has witnessed many protests since Monday. Farmers have been complaining that the state government is busy providing free power in cities and towns, while they do not have power for farmers. Almost all farms and fields in Gadag are receiving only 3-4 hours of power per day, which is insufficient to run water pumpsets, thus impacting agriculture.

The farmers, who protested in front of the HESCOM office in Gajendragad, said, "The state government is giving stepmotherly treatment to farmers, while providing power to cities and towns. We are demanding electricity to provide water for our harvest as there is no rain. The elected representatives and officials should understand our situation and help us."

"Gadag witnessed reduced power generation due to weak winds, and Udupi has started thermal energy production. And we are planning to buy electricity to address the power issue," said an official from Gadag HESCOM.

Cauvery panel asks K'taka to give TN 3k cusecs for 15 days

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

THE Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) on Wednesday directed Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of water to Tamil Nadu for 15 days more, from October 16 to October 31, despite objection from Karnataka government which said the state is facing drought-like condition due to deficit monsoon in the Cauvery basin.

TD Sharma, member-secretary of CWRC, chaired the 88th meeting of the committee in which officials from Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry took part. In its last meeting held on 26 September, the CWRC had directed Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of water to TN for 15 days till October 15, 2023.

"In a monsoon deficit year, based on availed data, we have to distribute water on pro rata basis," said Vineet Gupta, member, CWRC.

Tamil Nadu also raised the issue of getting shortfall quantity of water immediately and share of water from Karnataka as per distress formula. According to the calculation of CWRC, there is a shortfall of 16.248 tmcft of cumulative flows to be realised at Biligundulu between June 1 and October 10, 2023. The committee said Karnataka will release the water shortfall due to TN once the storage position in reservoirs improves.

Karnataka government made a submission that there was 50.89% shortfall in cumulative inflows into Karnataka's four reservoirs between June 1 and October 10, 2023. "We have already declared 161 taluks as severely drought affected and 34 taluks as moderately drought affected," Karnataka said.

Keeping in view the meteorological conditions in the Cauvery basin, storage positions, inflows and outflows of eight designated reservoirs, sown areas of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, and availability of drinking water for Karnataka, the committee directed the Karnataka to ensure release from its reservoirs, so that 3,000 cusecs of water can be realised at Biligundulu by Tamil Nadu till October 31.

We will protect farmers' interests, says Deputy CM

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shiva Kumar has declared that the Karnataka government, which has been directed to release 3,000 cusecs of water to Tamil Nadu till October 15, will protect the interests of the state's farmers.

Responding to queries about the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) direction to give 3,000 cusecs of water every day, rejecting Tamil Nadu's plea for 12 tmcft, Shivakumar said the panel has taken details of water availability and storage level in reservoirs in the delta region in Tamil Nadu.

Revealing that inflow into reservoirs ranges from 7,000 to 10,000 cusecs following rain in the catchment area, he said Biligundlu water gauge station has recorded less inflow in the past two days. However, rain in Bengaluru has compensated for the increased flow in the river. We have taken all measures to protect our farmers' interests, he said.

Asked about the Mekedatu project and status of ongoing survey work, Shivakumar said Karnataka has carried out a survey on its land to access forest and revenue areas that will be covered by the project, the number of trees to be felled, and then seek environment clearance.

Refusing to give more details on the Mekedatu project, he said it is the top priority of the government. "There is no need to take permission from others to carry out a survey in our jurisdiction. We have presented our case before court and are prepared with our argument why we need the project. The court has said Karnataka will construct the reservoir in its area and ensure Tamil Nadu's share of 170 tmcft of water. The project needs clearance from the Centre and environment department," he said. Asked about load shedding that has hit the farming community, he said the state received less than 50 per cent rain, that affected power generation and led to load shedding and power cuts. He clarified that measures will be taken to balance demand and supply.

New water release order shows failure of state govt: Bommai

BENGALURU: Slamming the state government, former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday alleged that with the government not approaching the Supreme Court, to question the earlier order of the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA), another order has come directing Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of water to Tamil Nadu for another 15 days. Speaking to reporters, Bommai said the authorities were unable to consider illegal consumption of water by Tamil Nadu and the real requirement of water by Karnataka, especially drinking water during the months of March and April. However, the Karnataka government was unable to properly highlight this point before the Cauvery Water Regulation Committee (CWRC) or even the apex court. Bommai further said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah had promised to go to court against the earlier CWMA order, but has not done so. "They are obeying this order. The result is that another order has been slapped against Karnataka to release 3,000 cusecs of water for the next 15 days. It is a failure of the Karnataka government," he charged, adding, "I had suggested to move court against earlier orders, but my suggestions went unheard. What can I do?" ENS

Govt turns off cash tap, Oppn MLAs seek funds

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THERE is a new flashpoint between the government and BJP MLAs, who are complaining about insufficient funds to take up development of their constituencies. On Wednesday, Rajarajeshwari Nagar MLA N Muniratna sat in protest, demanding grants for his constituency.

Malleswaram BJP MLA Dr Ashwath Narayan alleged, "Wherever works were not completed, they have withdrawn funds from BJP MLAs' constituencies and given to Congress MLAs. They have delayed payments to contractors and made it difficult for us to take up development."

Two BJP MLAs did not speak on record, although one admitted that roads in his constituency were in bad shape, and they were requesting the government for funds. Many MLAs are aggrieved that Local Area Development funds were not released and all development works have come to a standstill. If the situation worsens, many more might resort to protests like MLA Muniratna, they warned.

Rajajinagar MLA and former minister Suresh Kumar told TNIE, "We are not able to complete the scheduled works. Contractors who are not sure of payment are not ready to work. Many important development works are incomplete. They said the special investigation team would look into the works. But it means several delays."

Mangalore City South MLA Vedavyas Kamath said they have not got funds from the government, and whatever was allocated by the previous government was not released to them by local administrative authorities.

"Many projects have come to a standstill because of paucity of funds. We had planned to build houses but it's pending. Another road project costing about Rs 42 crore is pending, and I had raised the issue with the district ministers. They promised to release Rs 16-17 crore," Hubli-Dharwad Central MLA Mahesh Thenginkai said.

₹126 crore grant: Muniratna accuses DKS of vendetta politics

BENGALURU: It was a day of high drama for Rajarajeshwari Nagar MLA Muniratna, who alleged that DyCM DK Shivakumar was pursuing vendetta politics, as grants of Rs 126 crore sanctioned for his constituency by the previous BJP government, were cancelled by the Congress government on Wednesday. He also alleged that the funds were diverted to Yeshwantpur, represented by former minister ST Somashekar, who is on good terms with both CM Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar -- Byatarayanapura and Pulikeshinagara Assembly constituencies represented by Congress MLAs. Muniratna, who staged a dharna at the Mahatma Gandhi statue at Vidhana Soudha, called it off after former CM BS Yediyurappa intervened. He later met Shivakumar at the latter's residence. "Grants sanctioned during the BJP government were cancelled, and it looks like vendetta politics. He put off the dharna after I promised I would take up the issue with the CM. The BJP is with Muniratna," Yediyurappa said. Shivakumar claimed that he urged Muniratna to ask former CMs Yediyurappa and Basavaraj Bommai why grants to Congress MLAs' constituencies were cut during the BJP government, and the medical college sanctioned for Kanakapura constituency was also withdrawn. "To that, Muniratna said he is too small a man to discuss these issues," he said. On his part, Muniratna said, "We discussed the Rs 126-crore grant sanctioned under CM's Nagarotthana scheme, and no talks were held beyond that. I have not spoken about the previous works as I am not concerned, and the government can act legally. Shivakumar promised to cooperate." To a query about switching loyalties ahead of the 2024 LS polls, Muniratna said he would continue in the BJP. Earlier, after calling off his dharna, Muniratna had rushed to Palace Grounds where Shivakumar was participating in the foundation-laying ceremony for a 'Kambala' festival, and tried to touch his feet. "He should not have created a scene there," Shivakumar said. Muniratna countered: "I am prepared to do anything for the people of my constituency." ENS

Calamity alerts to be tested today

ENS @Bengaluru

The Department of Telecommunications, in collaboration with the National Disaster Management Authority, will be conducting a Cell Broadcast Alert System testing on Thursday in Karnataka that will enhance emergency communication during disasters and ensure safety of people. This is being done across the country on various days to check the system.

During the testing period, people may receive simulated emergency alerts on their mobile devices.

"These alerts are part of the planned testing process and do not indicate an actual emergency. Each test alert will be clearly labelled as a 'SAMPLE TESTING MESSAGE' to avoid confusion," a release from the Revenue Department said.

The aim of the testing process is to enhance the efficiency and reliability of the cell broadcasting system for delivering crucial disaster alerts to the public, thereby contributing to the state's disaster preparedness and response capabilities.

A release from Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda's office said this is a system that enables sending critical and time-sensitive messages for disaster management to all mobile devices within a designated geographical area, irrespective of whether the recipients are residents or visitors.

B-report rejected: Dharwad eludes MLA Kulkarni

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @Hubballi

WITH the special court of elected representatives in Bengaluru dismissing the B-report submitted by the Hubballi-Dharwad police in a case connected with the killing of BJP member Yogishgouda Goudar, the chances of MLA Vinay Kulkarni being able to enter Dharwad district have further diminished.

Gurunathgouda had filed a private complaint, claiming to be a witness of the murder of his brother Yogishgouda, alleging that he was threatened by the accused in the case against becoming a witness. He had also accused police officers involved in the murder probe and the then minister Kulkarni of intimidating him, and complained that the police had not followed due procedure in investigating his complaint.

Thereafter, the Hubballi-Dharwad police submitted a B-report. However, the People's Representative Court has found several flaws in the police report and asked them to submit a final or additional report immediately, after a thorough investigation. In light of this court order, Kulkarni has to face another case, apart from his alleged involvement in Yogishgouda's killing.

In connection with the latter case, Kulkarni was arrested by the CBI and had been in judicial custody for over nine months before getting conditional bail from the Supreme Court, which imposed a ban on his entry into Dharwad. Though he tried to get respite from this restriction, citing his contesting of the Assembly election and voting for the HDMC mayoral election, different courts have struck down his requests repeatedly.

In the wake of the People's Representative Court rejecting the B-report filed in another case, political observers opine that it could be much harder for Kulkarni to get an order in his favour from the court to enter the district. On the other hand, the CBI has become active once against after recent developments in the High Court with respect to the case, so the days ahead would not be the most comfortable for Kulkarni, they added.

However, he is taking care of his constituency from the neighbouring district and even holding official meetings and government functions. These actions are being hugely criticised by BJP leaders.

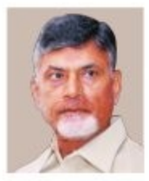
In relief to Naidu, HC issues interim stay on ACB spl court plea hearing

APCID had sought Prisoner Transit warrant against former CM in Inner Ring Road case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Vijayawada

IN some relief to TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu, the High Court of Andhra Pradesh on Wednesday issued an interim order to stay hearing in the ACB Special Court on the APCID's plea seeking Prisoner Transit (PT) warrant against the former chief minister in the Amaravati Inner Ring Road (IRR) case. Posting hearing in the case to October 16, Justice K Suresh Reddy directed the ACB court not to issue any orders in the matter. The interim stay orders were issued after advocate general S Sriram, appearing for the probe agency, submitted to the court in writing that they will not directly arrest the 73-year-old in the IRR case and that only a PT warrant was sought.



Meanwhile, public prosecutor Dushyant Reddy, on behalf of the police department, filed a memo in the HC, stating that they will not arrest Naidu in the Angallu violence case until Thursday. He added that they will also not seek a PT warrant in the court concerned.

Subsequently, Justice Reddy posted hearing in the Angallu violence case to October 12 (Thursday).

It may be pointed out that Naidu had filed different petitions in the HC seeking anticipatory bail in both the cases.

During the hearing, Naidu's counsel, Siddharth Luthra and Dammalapati Srinivas, submitted to the court that the IRR case was registered in May 2022 and till date, no notice had been issued to the petitioner.

Stating that the APCID filed for a PT warrant against Naidu in the IRR case only after he was sent to judicial remand in the skill development corporation scam, they expressed concerns that police may arrest the TDP leader once again, while hearing on PT warrant is pending. They further pointed out that if the ACB court grants the PT warrant, the anticipatory bail petition filed in the High Court would become redundant.

Naidu's counsel explained that as the HC had rejected to consider him to have been in deemed custody for both the cases, they have filed a bail petition.

Accusing the State government of trying to frame Naidu in different cases to keep him behind the bars, they submitted to the court that the petitioner was ready to cooperate with the investigation. They argued that hearing the prosecution's version was not needed for seeking an anticipatory bail.

CRASH AND BURN

Farmer dumps tomatoes on roadside as prices dip ...

Rangaswamy throws tomatoes on the road in front of Chikkammanahalli tomato market of Challakere in Chitradurga on Wednesday | EXPRESS

... but onions get pricier due to low yield

G SUBHASH CHANDRA
@ Challakere (Chitradurga)

TOMATO prices have taken a sharp downward turn after reaching the peak of Rs 200 a kg a month ago in Chitradurga and Davangere. The vegetable is being sold for Rs 2 per kg in the wholesale market and Rs 8 to 10 per kg in the retail market in the state. The prices plummeted to Rs 2 a kg at Chikkammanahalli tomato market in Challakere taluk on Tuesday and Wednesday.

A 15-kg tomato crate, which was sold for Rs 2,000 to Rs 2,500 a month ago, is not even fetching Rs 20-30 now, affecting farmers badly. "This will not help the farmers even recover the plucking cost and has pushed them into financial trouble. Many farmers who appointed private security guards to protect tomatoes a month ago have now left the crop unattended and people are free to pluck it," sources said. Rangaswamy from Ajjanahalli village of Talaku hobli in Challakere has grown tomatoes on two acres by spending Rs 1.50 lakh and taken it for selling at Chikkammanahalli village. However, he was forced to throw it on the road when traders bid a crate for just Rs 30.

He said, "I couldn't get the cost of growing this crop. As the quote was negligible, I have decided to throw it on the streets as a mark of protest."

He also requested the state government to set up food processing units in Chitradurga district, so that farmers can get value addition for tomatoes. Rangaswamy also said that the cost of plucking a crate of tomatoes is Rs 100. "Then how can I sell them for just Rs 30," he questioned.

A trader at the state's second tomato market, Venkatesh told TNIE that each crate of 15 kg of tomatoes was sold for Rs 20 to 160 at Chikkammanahalli market in Challakere on Wednesday. The trend has been the same for the past 10 days and farmers are not getting even the cost of plucking tomatoes, hence they are throwing it away in front of the market itself.

He said, "We used to sell nearly 40,000 crates everyday, but today we are getting only 5,000 to 6,000 crates. If we want to sell tomatoes in the Delhi market, we have to put them in big boxes depending upon the quality and it costs Rs 110 to 150 which is also not profitable."

"We are expecting further fall in the prices, once tomatoes from Chattisgarh, Maharashtra and Andhra Pradesh start arriving to the national market," he said. Senior assistant director of Horticulture R Virupaksha said that excess production due to favourable weather has led to the high yield and resulted in the price crash.

Now, it's the turn of onions to get pricey in the coming days as the yield of the crop is low due to deficit rainfall in the onion cultivation areas in the state as well as in the country.

As most of the taluks in the state are reeling under severe drought, the onion cultivation areas like parts of Chitradurga, Chikkaballapura, Gadag, Vijayapura and other parts in Karnataka have taken a huge hit. The total yield of the new onion crop in the state was just 40 per cent and already 25 per cent of it being sold in the market. Apart from the onion crop grown in the state, the entire onion market depends upon Nasik and other onion growing areas of Maharashtra, he said.

For the past 15 days, the price of onion per kg in Shivamogga wholesale market was about ₹25 to ₹30 while it was ₹30 to ₹35 per kg in the retail market. Currently, the price has gone up to ₹32 to ₹35 per kg in the wholesale market in Shivamogga.

Meanwhile, onion merchant Ramu said the Central government has levied 40 per cent tax on the export of onion. This measure has checked the export of the onion by the major sellers of Maharashtra.

The Central government with the support of National Cooperative Consumers Federation of India Limited (NCCF) is regulating the price of onion by purchasing the crop from Maharashtra for the past few months. The price of onion may witness steady hike from November and depending upon the supply from Maharashtra, the price may vary.

Actor alleges harassment on Air India flight

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kochi

A Malayalam film actor has alleged harassment by a male co-passenger on an Air India flight from Mumbai to Kochi on Tuesday. The Nedumbassery police have registered a case based on the complaint filed by actor Divya Prabha via email. An officer confirmed that they are investigating the matter.

The incident occurred just before takeoff on Air India flight AI 681, according to the actress. "The incident involved a passenger seated in 12C who, under the influence of alcohol, switched his seat to 12B with me (12A) and initiated an argument with no logical basis regarding the seat's location and his inappropriate behavior. He was leaning into my seat, making unwarranted contact. Despite my repeated requests for him to sit properly, he did not comply. I reported the matter to the air hostess, and instead of relocating him, they requested that I change my seat. I found this airline's response to be unjust. The person who caused the disturbance was left to sit comfortably in his own seat," Divya Prabha told TNIE.

The actor filed a detailed FIR with the Nedumbassery police on Wednesday.

"After landing, I reported the issue to the airport staff of Air India, who directed me to seek assistance from police aid. I filed my complaint via email as a formal complaint," she added.

Meanwhile, an airline spokesperson said, "Air India won't be able to make any statement at this time, as the matter is under investigation. The airline will fully cooperate with the investigation."

BRS may woo middle-class in manifesto

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

THE concept of micro-planning has become a buzzword within the Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) circles. The ruling BRS is likely to focus on the middle-class populace, both in urban and rural areas, in its manifesto scheduled for release on October 15. The BRS is aiming to extend benefits to all voters, irrespective of their caste or religion. According to sources, CM and BRS supremo K Chandrasekhar Rao is on the last leg of the process.

Since no dedicated committee was set up this time, KCR has the sole responsibility to prepare the manifesto. It is anticipated to resonate with a broad cross-section of society. Over the past month, KCR has met several leaders, including ministers and MLAs, seeking their input on the manifesto and the needs of the people.

According to party sources, KCR is set to unveil new schemes that will particularly benefit the middle class. In addition to these new initiatives, the BRS manifesto will also pledge to increase the allocations for Rythu Bandhu and Aasara pensions. Farmers and weaker sections, who constitute the majority of voters in each Assembly segment, will witness a slight increase in the benefits offered by ongoing schemes. For instance, the Rythu Bandhu, which currently provides ₹10,000 to farmers, may see an annual increase of ₹2,000. As for Aasara pensions, there might be an increase of ₹1,000 per beneficiary.

Party sources said during the first 10 years, the BRS concentrated on macro-level planning. "Now, the party is shifting its focus to micro-planning with an aim to touch the lives of every citizen," a party leader said.

In contrast to the Congress' promise of cash support for tenant farmers, it remains to be seen whether the BRS will extend its flagship Rythu Bandhu scheme to them.

Israel's digital initiatives to help affected people

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru

ISRAEL has developed digital initiatives to help its citizens within 72 hours of Hamas launching an attack on the country.

Amid the conflict, Noa Muzzafi, founder of InnoA (Innovative Asia) Ventures, TIE Women Israel GM and Asia Director of AsiaBridge, flew to Bengaluru from Tel Aviv on Wednesday to attend the 'Transforming Tech, Transforming Life' business conclave.

She explained about the multiple websites, databases, location-based and face detection apps developed to help the affected people in her country.

Citing examples, Noa said Kvar Baim App - We Are On Way, a location-based app, was launched to rescue civilians. An Israeli engineer developed a face recognition app within 24 hours of war declaration to search the web, social media posts, videos, whatsapp messages and media reports for identifying and reporting missing persons. 'Free the Hostage Platform' -- an AI-based initiative – was also launched to emphasise cruelty inflicted on civilians and gather international support.

Israel is have also initiated a project to document stories of people affected during the war under the hashtag #OURHEROES to recognise and remember them.

The country, which has an active innovative ecosystem with 7,500 active startups, 400 venture capitals and 400 multinational companies, has created an innovation ecosystem 2.0 in the past three days.

Noa said Israel has always worked as an island economy without much support from its neighbouring countries. Over the years, the country has invested in innovation as an ecosystem with artificial intelligence, smart mobility, banking, healthcare, cyber security and smart mobility being the top sectors and managed to build this digital system.

'When conflicts begin, people invest in gold'

KS Keshav, professor of Economics, Bangalore University, said whenever wars or conflicts begin, people usually invest in gold. This has been a worldwide trend. If the war escalates, it will impact the stock market which might crash. But this is not true in the case of gold. "Now with this trend, the demand for gold is increasing. When the demand for the yellow metal is not met, naturally its prices tend to go up globally," he added.

Prof Keshav said when the Ukraine-Russia war started, a similar trend prevailed. People anticipated that this war would continue for many days and started investing in gold. "However, this trend witnessed a decline to some extent, but the war did not stop," he added.

Economist RS Deshpande, former director, Institute for Social and Economic Change (ISEC), said gold prices go up drastically, but they will come down. "But when the prices come down, they will not return to their original prices. Usually, they will be slightly above the earlier (older) prices," he said.

Situation tense, can't move freely: M'luru nurse

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

"I WORK at a paediatric hospital in Bethlehem city, located in the West Bank of Palestine, which is very close to Israel-Palestine border. On October 7, upon arriving at a church in Jerusalem town for Konkani mass, I was informed about the Hamas rocket attack. We were cautioned about red alert being declared all over Israel, due to which I was worried about returning to my city. Luckily, bus services were available till Saturday noon and the checkpoints on the Israel-Palestine border were yet to be fully shut down and I could return to Bethlehem safely. If not, I would have been stuck at Jerusalem," said Sr Theresa Crasta, a resident of Bela, a village on the Mangaluru-Kasargod border, who has been involved in charity work in the West Bank since one year and three months. Following Hamas attack, Israel has shut down all the checkpoints leading to Palestine and Sr Crasta who serves at Caritas Baby Hospital at Bethlehem said movement of people from Bethlehem city and other areas under Palestinian control to Israel through the checkpoints has been restricted since then.

"Thousands of Palestinians in the West Bank are dependent on Israel for daily work, but the war has rendered them jobless. Our city which used to be buzzing with tourists are almost deserted. Gaza is just 74 kilometers away from Bethlehem. Though there is no direct impact of war here at Bethlehem, people are struggling due to rise in price and short supply of essentials," Sr Crasta told The New Indian Express. Sr Theresa said, "As of now in the West Bank, we are supplied with adequate electricity. If the war continues, it will be a difficult time for all of us. People have stopped going out and schools have taken to online mode due to the conflict. Situation is not scary but tense as we can't move around freely like before," she said.

CABINET SUB-COMMITTEE GIVES NOD FOR DECLARING 6 ESZs IN K'TAKA

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

TO reduce man-animal conflict and prevent encroachment of forest land, the cabinet-sub committee on Wednesday approved the proposal of the forest department to identify and declare eco-sensitive zones (ESZ) in six forest patches in the state, including Nagarhole Tiger Reserve.

While Bandipur Tiger Reserve has a defined ESZ, it was not defined in Nagarhole. Due to which forest officials were getting into conflicts with realtors and influential people who were taking up construction activities.

The sub-committee approved the ESZs, adhering to Supreme Court orders and Environment Ministry guidelines in Kappatagudda Wildlife Sanctuary in Gadag, Chinkara Wildlife Sanctuary in Bukkapattana, Tumkuru, Kamasandra Wildlife Sanctuary in Kolar, Anshi National Park and Dandeli Wildlife Sanctuary, Nagarhole Tiger Reserve and Cauvery Extended Wildlife Sanctuary.

As per procedure, the decision of the cabinet sub-committee will be placed before the cabinet and after it is approved, it will be sent to the central government for clearance. According to department records, the central government has declared ESZs in 29 forest patches. Already three proposals to declare ESZ are pending before the ministry for approval -- Bheemgad, Gudekotte (in Vijayanagar) and Sharavathi.

"The SC has directed that wherever no ESZ has been declared, a default of 10km has to be maintained and a minimum of 1km. As a department, we are fine, but the government wants it to be defined so that development and other works can be taken up. Hence, the boundaries are being defined with forest and non-forest areas," a forest department official said.

The official said, "We had proposed to add non-forest areas under ESZ, but the government was not keen on this. Hence, a combination of forest and non-forest lands have been listed."

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

WOMEN SHOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE WHAT THEY WEAR

V P Suhra, who has always been at the forefront of the fight for Muslim women's rights, recently removed her headscarf in public to protest against a Muslim religious leader's disparaging remark on women who opt not to wear the headscarf. What triggered Suhra's act was a comment made by Umar Faizi Mukkam, a leader of the Samastha Kerala Jem-Iyyathul Ulama, a group of Sunni scholars in the state. He said in an interview that women who want to do away with the hijab are those who prefer a "wayward and immoral life". Suhra said her act of rebellion publicly proved that her integrity remained the same with and without the scarf.

Muslim headscarves have been a talking point in the state's political circles for some time. It started with a statement by CPM state committee member A P Anilkumar that his party's intervention had emboldened the Muslim women in Malappuram to say no to those trying to impose the headscarf. It stoked a controversy among Muslim organisations and the Indian Union Muslim League reacted sharply. Though Anilkumar's statement was not incorrect in the changing socio-political contexts of the region, the CPM leadership quickly distanced itself from the assertion. The party sensed that taking ownership of such a transition, although a progressive choice, would not augur well while it is desperately trying to woo the Muslim community. CPM state secretary M V Govindan declared that the choice of dress is a fundamental right and there was no need for anyone to interfere with it.

This context makes Suhra's decision to remove her headscarf all the more remarkable. The issue here is not whether the hijab should be worn or not, but that it is the right of an individual to select dresses for himself or herself. When the Karnataka government did not allow hijab-clad girls in classrooms, many viewed it as a denial of basic rights. At the same time, anti-hijab protests raged in Iran when a girl who had been picked up by the police for not wearing the hijab died in custody. Hundreds of women stormed the streets of Iran, cutting their hair and removing their hijab in public. What a woman decides to wear has to be her choice alone; nobody should be allowed to meddle with it. It is time religious scholars and politicians accepted this.

LET US MOVE AWAY FROM CRACKERS AT FESTIVALS

WITH the festival season upon us, the firecracker industry is on overdrive. Manufacturers in the fireworks industry hub of Sivakasi in Tamil Nadu are ready with their wares, which traders are stashing up without giving much thought to safety. One such trader's warehouse in Attibele on the outskirts of Bengaluru went up in flames last Saturday, claiming 15 young lives. It is said that the fire department had warned the trader last year about the lack of safety in his godown, but he had simply thumbed his nose and invoked political clout. The town of Attibele, along the highway on the Karnataka-Tamil Nadu border, is a massive wholesale firecracker market where manufacturers unload their best and brightest wares for the festival season.

Taking note of the dangers, Karnataka CM Siddaramaiah has banned the bursting of firecrackers during public functions and processions, and allowed only 'green crackers' that use alternative raw materials to reduce pollution. It is a welcome step in keeping with some other parts of the country—Delhi has banned all fireworks; Haryana and West Bengal have allowed only the green varieties; Punjab and Tamil Nadu have proposed specific times they would be allowed. The Supreme Court has also curbed the hours when crackers can be burst. This could be the way forward for all states, considering the high level of pollution in our cities. While these rules are followed more in the breach, there is a conscious public effort to move away from noisy, polluting crackers, given their impact on health, environment, pets and the elderly.

More often than not, the cause of fire tragedies is not accident but the human propensity to play fast and loose with rules. The Explosives Act 1884 and Explosives Rules of 2008 govern the display and storage of firecrackers. They mandate against keeping flammable material close by, ensuring water and extinguishers at hand, and having adequate escape doors. Yet, the reality is that wholesale markets often have ill-equipped warehouses packed to capacity that are located in congested areas. The one that exploded in Attibele had neither an extinguisher nor a fire exit; the front door was blocked by a truck and the tiny rear door was almost inaccessible. More such tragedies have been reported—on Monday, a fire broke out in a cracker factory in Tamil Nadu's Ariyalur district, charring 12 workers to death. Which brings us to the question: do firecrackers have to be a part of our celebrations? It is time to change our mindset and move away.

QUICK TAKE

LEND A HAND TO AFGHANISTAN

HERAT was rattled by a second big earthquake on Tuesday. The first one a few days earlier killed more than a thousand people in the western Afghan province. This calls for India to set aside the iciness in its relationship with the Taliban regime and extend a warm hand of help. India is good at disaster diplomacy and has even recently sent help for the UN food and drugs programmes there via Iran. We can send fresh help and ease the visa pains of Afghans who have been queuing up to come to India. Stepping up now will go a long way.

The foreign minister's recent trip to the US snuffed out all talk of coldness creeping into the relationship. Many more strategic engagements are afoot than are usually noted

INDIA DRAWS US CLOSER DESPITE DISTRACTIONS

SOUMYADIP SINHA

DURING last fortnight when Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's patronage of divisive Indo-Canadians, including some accused of terrorist flirtations, brought Ottawa's relations with New Delhi to its nadir, an entirely contradictory—and happy—story was being played out across the border in Washington. In the presence of external affairs minister S Jaishankar, Indian Americans celebrated harmoniously together the season of interfaith festivals: Janmashtami, Ganesh Chaturthi, Milad-un-Nabi, Gurupurab, Rosh Hashanah and Nowruz.

It was no run-of-the-mill community celebration. The crème de la crème of the Indian American community was in attendance. Many of them spoke at the function and rededicated themselves to India-US relations, which Jaishankar said "will go to the Moon, maybe even beyond". The list of those who did so is long—US Congressman Shri Thanedar, deputy secretary of state for management and resources Richard Verma, director of the American National Science Foundation S Panchanathan, US surgeon general Vivek Murthy, White House director of drug control policy Rahul Gupta, President Joe Biden's domestic policy advisor Neera Tanden, Nisha Biswal, deputy chief executive of America's aid-investment institution, the International Development Finance Corporation. The names go on and on. India's ambassador to the US, Taranjit Singh Sandhu, appropriately named the event 'Colours of Friendship'. India's unity in diversity, which is often said to be under threat at home and starkly undermined in Canada, was very much in evidence that evening at India House, the embassy residence in Washington.

Refashioning engagement with the ethnic Indian community in the US is part of the Narendra Modi government's plans to take bilateral relations with Washington to its next logical stage, if not hyperbolically, to the Moon and beyond. Not that his government ever stopped engaging with Indian Americans. However, after the prime minister's spectacular show at New York's Madison Square Garden in September 2014, such engagement had become pro forma and lost much of its substance, but not its photo opportunities. A predictable section of the community gratuitously and frequently rushed to the defence of Modi and present-day India against attacks from liberals in the US media, among think tanks and to some extent on Capitol Hill. But it was done crudely, and as the adage goes, "If you have friends like these, you don't need enemies." Modi's joint appearance with the 45th US President Donald Trump in Houston in September 2019 was only a diversion: the real story of the 'Howdy, Modi' gathering is yet to be told, but that is not the subject of this column.

The big demonstration in front of The New York Times headquarters on October 3 offers a peek into a new tactic that will be part of a larger Indian strategy to cement relations with the American government and the people. The strategy faced its biggest challenge since the Pokhran II nuclear tests in 1998 last year—the fallout of war in Ukraine, trade issues, a plurilateral plateau, and to top it all, bad press on the decidedly liberal, parallel, east and west coasts of the US. The anti-NYT protest was a rare example in the US of liberals turning on liberals. It clearly called for imagination and planning by some elements among the organisers, whose motives are now the subject of intense speculation. The demonstrators accused the powerful New York daily of being responsible for the raids on NewsClick and the arrest of its founder Prabir Purkayastha. They alleged that an investigative story by NYT in August had alerted Indian government agencies to alleged illegal Chinese funding of the news portal. Indians who are in solidarity with NewsClick have also criticised the New York newspaper for its investigation of the news portal.

Ethnic Indians in the US have now scaled unparalleled heights, unlike their counterparts in all but a few other countries. Their successes are also across the board. Indian Americans are on corporate boards, in scientific, space and defence technology institutions, academia and politics from school boards and way up to being a heartbeat away from the White House. Less obtrusively, the years ahead will see their diverse strengths being leveraged more than ever by India to make engagement with the US the ultimate priority in external relations.

Jaishankar and US secretary of state Antony Blinken confirmed that the bilateral 2+2 Dialogue of defence and foreign ministers would take place soon. That was the most definitive signal that Trudeau's spat with India will not impact India-US relations. The Indian minister's meeting with Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin III reiterated the continued commitment of both sides to INDUS-X, the India-US Defence Acceleration Ecosystem. INDUS-X, launched barely four months ago, is an extension of iCET, the US-India initiative on Critical and Emerging Technology, the most ambitious strategic technology partnership and defence industrial cooperation effort by the two countries ever.

India has always been adept at announcing high-sounding initiatives during VVIP visits in both directions, but has an abysmal record in following up on those announcements. That is changing between New Delhi and Washington. The iCET was announced by Modi and US President Joe Biden in May 2022. With spectacular speed, considering its complex dimensions, iCET became a reality in eight months led by the national security advisors. In an effort to introduce accountability in bureaucratic actions, the INDUS-X agenda provides timelines and metrics to measure progress in implementing collaboration under the scheme.

With such a promising outlook for bilateral relations, trade and commerce continue to be the laggards. Despite the Modi government's much-touted ambitions to attract foreign investment and increase trade, the India-US Trade Policy Forum, the primary vehicle for achieving this, did not meet for four years until its twelfth session in November 2021. Part of the problem was Donald Trump and his unrealistic demands for "America First". The policy forum was relaunched before its twelfth session and met again in January 2023 with a lot of fanfare. It is, however, a victim of India's chronic affliction of poor follow-up. Bilateral trade can make the most positive impact on the peoples of India and the US.

GAZA GAFFE POKES HOLE IN ISRAEL'S IRON DOME

KAJAL BASU
Veteran journalist

HUNDREDS of Hamas fighters swept across the Gaza border on motorcycles, paragliders and SUVs, even as Hamas launched a blitz with more than 7,000 missiles. This is a border embedded with microsurveillance devices: finely-calibrated subterranean digital sensors of high sensitivity to monitor Hamas' movements through tunnels; the border terrain under the charge of the well-equipped Israeli Ground Forces; and the air protected by the celebrated Iron Dome system, which has formed an antimissile carapace over Israel for twelve years now.

But all this came to nought. The Dome didn't work. The Gaza barrier was infiltrated. Intelligence and surveillance failed. The Israeli Defense Forces (IDF) were caught by surprise. Israel's much-vaunted security and microsurveillance creds are in the dust. Israel is no longer the most securitised country in the world. That boast is toast.

Most gallingly, it happened in the full public glare that's so detested by the shadowy Shin Bet (internal security service), Mossad (foreign intelligence service) and Aman (military intelligence)—the capabilities of all of which collapsed in unison.

The long ripples of this failure will be as international as domestic. The indications are that many countries contemplating investing in various versions of Israeli missile interceptor systems—including Germany, the Czech Republic, Finland, and the US—are doing a rethink about installing any component of the Dome system.

The Iron Dome's inadequacy will also hit the US, which has so far spent upwards of $1.5 billion on the programme and related research, and manufactures roughly 75 percent of the Tamir missile interceptor's components. In August 2020, Israeli Rafael and American Raytheon formed a joint venture to produce Dome interceptors in the US. In 2021, the US bought two Dome systems from Rafael, one of which was operationalised in 2022. Already, there is opposition from within the senior US military establishment, with arguments that the Dome cannot be integrated into the US Army's "future air defense brain", the integrated air and missile defence battle command system.

In September 2021, Israeli forces announced the completion of a 65-km, $1.1-billion, 20-ft tall barrier on the Gaza-Israel border—a 'smart wall' embedded with radar systems, high-res cameras, hypersensitive underground sensors, and other imperatives of electronic surveillance. Yet, all it took for Hamas fighters to break through and gain open access to Fortress Israel was bulldozers and wire-clippers.

As far back as 2014, in a report titled The Deadly Rocket Arsenal of Hamas, the IDF had claimed, while launching Operation Protective Edge, "terrorist organisations in the Gaza Strip currently possess around 10,000 rockets including long-range missiles such as the [Syrian-made] M-302", whose 100-km range is well beyond the 70-km interception capabilities of the Israeli Tamir.

WIKIMEDIA

The low-tech Hamas takedown of Israel's high-tech security system has upset well-laid calculations of the weapons market and military doctrines around the world

But this was mostly hype. Since 2001, when it began artillery strikes against Israel, Hamas's rocketry has been defined by the Qassam missile, a simple, homemade device that cannot be tuned to strike specific targets. Most of the missiles that rained down on southern and central Israel, exacting an unconscionable toll of civilians, were inaccurate Qassams. The first early-morning strike of 2,200 Hamas rockets fired over 20 minutes overwhelmed the Iron Dome by their sheer numbers, despite the Dome having tracking radar and rapid-action batteries of Tamir interceptor missiles. This left the skies open for the rest of the missiles.

The IDF boasts that the Iron Dome "was first used in Operation Pillar of Defense in 2012, where over 400 rockets were intercepted". The website Missile Threat reported, "Near the end of the 2021 Israel-Palestine conflict, … analyses claim the Iron Dome had intercepted 1,428 missiles out of 1,500 rockets approaching populated areas, achieving a 95 percent success rate".

According to the IDF's website, "In the latest operation, Operation Shield and Arrow in May 2023 … of the 1,469 Gazan rockets which were launched, only 1,139 rockets managed to cross into Israeli territory. The Iron Dome successfully intercepted 437 rockets, which is a 95.6 percent success rate of all interceptions."

There are ten Iron Dome batteries across Israel, each with three launchers for twenty interceptor missiles. All of them in southern and central Israel were active, and, by all accounts, took out most of their targets. But Hamas did not only descend with an avalanche of rockets: they also took to the skies with agile paragliders, which were used, in all likelihood, for a combination of spotting, videographing for record and social media, and dropping explosives.

There are fundamental lessons to be relearnt from this low-tech Hamas takedown of the most sophisticated, high-tech national security system on the planet.

First, that swarm (or saturation) attacks can defeat the best-laid plans of mice and men. Examples of swarming are evident throughout the history of conflict, from, as a RAND study, Swarming and the Future of Conflict, points out, "the ancient Parthians to the mediaeval Mongols". This study also proposes the creation of a newly energised military doctrine: 'BattleSwarm'.

In February 2023, New Scientist wrote about a "new Pentagon project [that] envisages automated, coordinated attacks by swarms of many types of drones that operate in the air, on the ground and in the water". It is under the aegis of the Autonomous Multi-domain Adaptive Swarm-of-Swarms.

Hamas swarmed Israel. It employed an age-old military tactic—fusillades of arrows and full-tilt charges by war-horses—to overwhelm a new-age strategy. Presaging the future of warfare, swarm attacks by cheaply assembled and disposable drones, it brought the past and the future into the present.

Tellingly, Israel has decided to copy swarming-by-soldiers: it has summoned 300,000 reservists—who train one month a year with the army and return to peaceful civilian lives for the other eleven—to bulk up its armed forces to do a boots-on-the-ground razzia of Gaza.

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Union Cabinet chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday approved the establishment of an autonomous body named as 'Mera Yuva Bharat' (MY-Bharat), the objective of which is to promote youth-led development.

Mera Yuva Bharat will be an autonomous government body that will provide the country's youth access to resources and connection to opportunities, and help them become community change agents and nation builders.

Briefing about the Cabinet decisions, Union minister Anurag Singh Thakur said that Mera Yuva Bharat will serve as "an overarching enabling mechanism powered by technology to provide larger opportunities to youth, which will benefit individuals in the age group of 15-29 years, in line with the definition of 'youth' as per the National Youth Policy."

In case of programmes specifically meant for the adolescents, the beneficiaries will be in the age-group of 10-19 years.

Thakur said Mera Yuva Bharat will be a "phygital platform" — comprising physical activity as well as an opportunity to connect digitally. "To accomplish the objective of this, youth will be connected through different schemes and programmes," the minister said, adding that the body will provide equitable access to youth to actualise their aspirations and build a 'Viksit Bharat' across the entire spectrum of the government.

Under the new arrangement, with access to resources and connection to opportunities, youth would become community change agents and nation-builders, allowing them to act as the "Yuva Setu" between the government and citizens.

It seeks to harness the immense energy of youth for nation-building, the minister said, adding that it will help achieve youth-led development through 'Kartavya Bodh' (sense of duty) and 'Seva Bodh' (sense of service) during 'Amrit Kaal'.

Besides this, the Cabinet also approved royalty rates for three minerals: 3% each for lithium and niobium and 1% for rare earth Elements.

The approval will enable the Centre to auction lithium, niobium and REE blocks for the first time in the country. The royalty rate on minerals is an important financial consideration for bidders during auction of mines. Further, the method for calculating Average Sale Price (ASP) of these minerals has also been prepared by the Centre which will allow determining of bid parameters.

"The Union Cabinet has approved amendment of Second Schedule of the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Act, 1957 (MMDR Act) for specifying rate of royalty in respect of three critical and strategic minerals, namely lithium, niobium and Rare Earth Elements," the minister said in a statement.

The Union Cabinet also approved three three separate memorandums of understanding India has signed with Papua New Guinea, France, and Trinidad and Tobago in the field of digital technologies.

The agreements are likely to enhance bilateral cooperation in digital technologies in the G2G (government-to-government) and B2B (business-to-business) domains.

The Ministry of Electronics and IT (Meity) has been mandated to promote international cooperation in the emerging and frontier areas of information technology under a bilateral and regional framework of cooperation.

Depsang resolution awaits as corps commanders hold talks

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIA and China exchanged views in a frank manner for mutually acceptable resolution of remaining issues, according to the ministry of external affairs (MEA).

The 20th round of India-China Corps Commander-level meeting was held at Chushul-Moldo border meeting point on the Indian side on October 9-10. "The two sides exchanged views in a frank, open and constructive manner for an early and mutually acceptable resolution of the remaining issues along the LAC in the western Sector, in accordance with the guidance provided by the national leadership of the two countries, and building on the progress made in the last round of Corps Commanders' Meeting held on 13-14 August 2023," the MEA said in a statement.

The Indian Army since the 18th round of Senior Highest Military Commander Level (SHMCL) talks has been reinforcing its clear view on the restoration of the Indian Army's patrolling rights up until the traditional patrolling points (PPs).

The talks were conducted at the Chushul-Moldo meeting point on the Chinese side on April 23 this year. It was exclusively reported by this newspaper that the Army has put its foot down on the issue of patrolling rights and has insisted with the Chinese side that it be allowed to patrol till the traditional patrolling points in the remaining standoff locations.

The standoff between the ground forces of the Indian Army and the Chinese People's Liberation Army (PLA) remains over two friction points at Depsang and Demchok.

The technical term for Corps Commanders ralks is Senior Highest Military Commander Level (SHMCL). Talks at the SHMCL levels took place for the first time on June 6, 2020. Else, matters were resolved at the Higher Commander Level (Major General) meetings.

The standoff at Depsang is of much significance because the Chinese troops have blocked access to PPs 10, 11, 11A, 12, and 13. The area out of access, as per sources, is about 952 sq km.

As reported earlier by this newspaper, the five PPs, which are located east of the strategic Sub-Sector North road, are close to the LAC, but not located right at the LAC. However, they are located inside the line that marks Indian territory.

Sub-sector North, of which Depsang is a part, is strategically most important. The terrain is such that large-scale armour operations are possible. China has multiple roads feeding this area while India has only the DSDBO road.

By sitting at the Y Junction, China can obstruct India's movement. Depsang is also a link towards Siachen and the DBO airfield. The Y Junction is about 20kms from the strategic airfield Daulat Beg Oldi.

The PPs are patrolling points identified on the LAC where patrolling is done to assert the physical claim about the LAC.

Want both Palestinians & Israelis to live in peace and dignity, says Tharoor

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH the Congress under attack from the BJP for its support to the people of Palestine, MP Shashi Tharoor on Wednesday said Prime Minister Narendra Modi's statement on the ongoing conflict between Israel and Hamas was incomplete without acknowledging the misery of Palestinians.

Condemning Hamas, Prime Minister Narendra Modi had on Tuesday extended India's solidarity with Israel.

"While we understand the PM standing up for Israel showing solidarity at this time of great grief and the horror that has been visited upon them, we feel that his statement was incomplete... It's a difficult situation for the Palestinians, especially since settlement building, and construction of new homes for Jewish settlers in the occupied territories have been continuing unabated all these years," Tharoor said, adding that the Congress is adhering to the position taken by India traditionally over the years.

"We want both Israelis and Palestinians to live in peace and dignity behind secure borders and conditions where neither has to fear for their lives at any time... We want to see this matter halt and peace be restored," Tharoor said, adding that the entire situation was provoked by the surprise attack by Hamas during the national holiday in Israel. "It was a terror operation. It really was impossible to accept any justification for what Hamas did. I certainly join in the condemnation of the act," he said.

It's a difficult situation for the Palestinians, especially since settlement building and construction of new homes for Jewish settlers in the occupied territories have been continuing unabated all these years

Shashi Tharoor, Congress MP

The CWC resolution on Monday extending support to Palestine has been severely criticised by the BJP. Tharoor said it wasn't a comprehensive view and the party will come out with an evolved one.

SC divided on allowing woman to terminate her 26-week pregnancy

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday delivered a 'split verdict' over a decision to terminate the 26-week pregnancy of a married woman and the Centre's plea to recall the abortion of the "unborn".

Following the differences of opinion, Justices Hima Kohli and BV Nagarathna referred the case further to Chief Justice DY Chandrachud for constitution of a three-judge bench.

The top court had on Monday permitted a 27-year-old married woman— a mother of two — to terminate her pregnancy in the third trimester at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences. After additional solicitor general Aishwarya Bhati, appearing for the Centre, argued that the permission contradicted the medical report of the woman, the court later directed AIIMS doctors to defer it.

As the woman is "neither physically, mentally or financially prepared to continue" with the unwanted pregnancy, Justice Nagarathna said that her choice should be respected

Differing to Justice Nagarathna's opinion, Justice Kohli opposed the termination of pregnancy, and asked which court will say "stop the heartbeat of a foetus."

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE Indian Ocean Rim Association (IORA) is a critical economic and strategic corridor, emphasised the External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Wednesday during the 23rd meeting of the IORA in Colombo. He acknowledged the vital role played by the Indian Ocean Region in the development and prosperity of nations within and beyond it.

India now holds the position of Vice-Chair of IORA, with Sri Lanka taking over as the chair from Bangladesh. The three nations, including Sri Lanka and Bangladesh, form a troika expected to bolster the organisation's traditional cooperation.

Jaishankar highlighted India's commitment to the well-being and progress of Indian Ocean nations, emphasising their role as the first responder and net security provider. This is rooted in India's Neighbourhood First policy, the SAGAR outlook, and their extended neighbourhood approach.

The meeting also revolved around a broader vision for the Indo-Pacific, emphasising a rules-based international order, the rule of law, sustainable and transparent infrastructure investment, freedom of navigation and over-flight, and respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity. India initiated IORA's outlook on the Indo-Pacific, adopted in the 22nd Council of Ministers' meeting, with plans to implement it in the future.

India moving towards presidential system: Nariman

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AMID the debate on the feasibility of conducting simultaneous elections in the country, eminent jurist Fali Nariman said that the country is increasingly moving towards presidential system and the trend of autocratic governments is visible across the world.

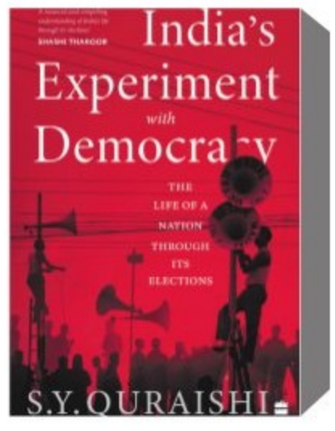
Nariman made the remarks during a panel discussion at the launch of former chief election commissioner SY Quraishi's book titled 'India's Experiment with Democracy: The Life of a Nation Through its Elections'.

Quraishi said holding simultaneous polls has both pros and cons. He said that people love elections. The phenomenon of accountability of MLAs and MPs and the people getting importance during polls was a major factor in favour of elections taking place repeatedly, he said.

Participating in the discussion, senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor, who was also a panelist, said he does not see it as a feasible reform and asserted that reducing the number and frequency of polls would be "undemocratic". Tharoor rejected the arguments that simultaneous polls would lessen the burden on the exchequer and that governance comes to a grinding halt due to a continuous election cycle. Now, the Prime Minister (Narendra Modi) argues that it (continuous election cycle) is more expensive. There is a study done by the NITI Aayog... After we dug this up, we found out that the cost was ₹5,000 more per voter if elections were not simultaneous. This is not a sum that the Indian exchequer cannot absorb," the MP from Thiruvananthapuram said.

History, processes and politics of elections

The panelists hailed former chief election commissioner SY Quraishi for his book, published by HarperCollins India, that looks at the history, processes and politics of elections in India. During the discussion, Tharoor also talked about the perception of reduced neutrality of the Election Commission, alleging that there have specifically been lapses on the part of the poll panel that have given rise to concerns.



"Even more troubling is the other argument that governance comes to a grinding halt. Frankly, that is not anyone's fault but that of the ruling party's," the Congress leader said.

Referring to remarks of Nariman, on increasing trend towards the presidential system, Tharoor said, "In some way, Fali sahab, a presidential system would be more honest because at least you would have an independent legislature. Right now, we have the worst of both worlds — a parliamentary system being run presidentially and Parliament is completely toothless."

Responding to Tharoor, Nariman quipped, "In a presidential system you won't be able to hold a meeting like this." Tharoor added that the presidential and parliamentary forms were a completely different debate.

Protests erupt as BJP list leaves out Raje loyalists

I don't understand why party is showing favouritism to a family that surrendered to the Mughals and opposed Maharana Pratap

Narpat Singh Rajvi, son-in-law of Bhairon Singh Shekhawat

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

AFTER the release of the first list of BJP candidates for the assembly election in Rajasthan, major protests and opposition have emerged from within the party. Several prominent party members, who were denied tickets, have expressed their discontent.

Narpat Singh Rajvi, son-in-law of former CM and former vice-president of India Bhairon Singh Shekhawat, is among those at the forefront of this dissent. Rajvi voiced his criticism after the party awarded a ticket to Diya Kumari, an MP from Vidyadhar Nagar and a member of the former royal family of Jaipur.

He remarked, "I don't understand why the party is showing favouritism to a family that surrendered to the Mughals and opposed Maharana Pratap." Emphasising on the contributions of Shekhawat to BJP, he expressed concerns that disregarding his family could harm the party's image. After a meeting with Arun Singh, state in-charge of BJP in Rajasthan, Rajvi though released a press note retracting his earlier statement. His retraction was, however, short-lived as a video of the interview containing his initial remarks went viral on social media.

Similar protests and discontent have emerged from other quarters of the party. For instance, MP Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore was given the Jhotwara (Jaipur) ticket, ignoring Rajpal Singh Shekhawat. Supporters of Shekhawat, who was a minister in the Vasundhara government, gathered at Vasundhara Raje's residence.

Shekhwat expressed his shock at the party's decision, considering his extensive involvement in the area's development. Rumors have circulated that numerous councilors are contemplating resigning in support of Rajpal.

MP Devji Patel's nomination from Sanchore also triggered protests, with workers staging a dharna in support of Danaram Choudhary, who was the BJP candidate in the last polls. Activists argue that Patel's candidacy is a wrong decision. Rohitashv Sharma, a staunch supporter of Raje and a former transport minister, sought a ticket from Bansur. However, the party opted for Devi Singh Shekhawat instead.

Chouhan hits campaign trail from Cong citadel

The Congress is so afraid of me that all its leaders are abusing me. Even when I die, I'll rise from the ashes as Phoenix to serve the people of my state.

Shivraj Singh Chouhan, MP CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

AFTER a day in Uttarakhand's Hindu pilgrimage towns Haridwar and Rishikesh, ruling BJP's longest serving CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan launched party's Madhya Pradesh assembly polls campaign from Muslim-dominated Bhopal-North constituency on Wednesday evening.

Returning to Bhopal from Uttarakhand in the evening, Chouhan went straight to the minority community dominated Teela Jamalpura locality and embarked on a road-show with former Bhopal mayor and BJP candidate from Bhopal-North seat Alok Sharma. The Bhopal-North seat, importantly, has been won just once (1993) by the BJP. It has been won in a row since 1998, ex-minister and six-times veteran Congress MLA Arif Aqueel.

While Alok Sharma was named the BJP candidate from the seat on August 17, the Congress is yet to find the successor to the six-times sitting MLA Arif Aqueel, whose sons and brother are reportedly in race to get the Congress ticket.

Before addressing the public meeting, Chouhan met with a little boy Misbah. He gave Chouhan a letter, seeking help for his father, who is unable to walk on own owing to severe illness for the last four months. "Mama never disappoints bhanjas (nephews) like Misbah, don't worry son, your father will get the best treatment."

Raising the issue of a post titled 'Mama ka Shraddh,' which was made on Tuesday on the social media platform 'X,' by a Congress sympathizer handle, the CM said "The Congress is so afraid of me that all its leaders, from Rahul Gandhi to Kamal Nath, are abusing me. Now they want to perform my Shraddh. But let me make this clear, even when I die, I'll rise from the ashes as Phoenix to serve the people of my state. I pray for the long life and prosperity of those praying for my Shraddh, as they'll be happy and prosperous only under Mama's (my) rule."

The concerned social media post, titled 'Mama ka Shraddh' pertained to BJP's fourth list of candidates released during the inauspicious period of Shraddh Paksh (fortnight dedicated to dead ancestors in Hindu religion).

Abhishek's wife questioned by ED on job scam

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) questioned Rujira Narula Banerjee, wife of chief minister Mamata Banerjee's nephew and TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee, on Wednesday in connection with the alleged irregularities in recruitments in state-aided schools.

Rujira was interrogated in connection with money laundering related to coal pilferage earlier. The ruling party of West Bengal described the central agency's move as a political harassment which was designed by the BJP to meet its political vendetta.

Not allowed to garland JP statue: Akhilesh

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WARNING of a 'complete revolution' if the BJP-led state government did not change its attitude, Samajwadi Party (SP) chief and former UP CM Akhilesh Yadav condemned the alleged attempt by the state authorities to prevent him from garlanding the statue of Lok Nayak Jai Prakash Narain in Lucknow on Wednesday.

Condemning the state authorities for locking gates of Jayaprakash Narayan Interpretation Centre (JPNIC) to allegedly prevent him from garlanding the bust of the leader on his birth anniversary, Akhilesh said: "Will we have to call for a complete revolution like Jayaprakash Narain ji even for garlanding his bust? If that is acceptable to the BJP then so be it."

While taking to social media platform 'X', Akhilesh questioned the attitude of the authorities. "On the birth anniversary of the great socialist thinker and strong advocate for social justice, Loknayak Jaiprakash Narain ji, is the path of JPNIC being blocked by putting up these tin sheets to stop the SP from garlanding his bust?" the SP chief posted.

Significantly, Lucknow Development Authority has sealed JPNIC in the wake of an ongoing probe into the alleged financial irregularities in the construction process. JPNIC was constructed on the lines of Indian International Centre in Delhi during the SP regime.

Akhilesh Yadav also posted a short video of the gates of JPNIC, showing tin barricades at the gate to allegedly prevent him from paying tributes to the great socialist leader on his birth anniversary.

At Vibrant Gujarat event in Mumbai, CM showcases industry roadmap

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

DURING a state government road show in Mumbai to promote the 10th edition of the Vibrant Gujarat Global Summit (VGGS), Gujarat CM Bhupendrabhai Patel announced on Wednesday that Gujarat's economy has achieved an annual growth rate of 15 per cent, surpassing the national average.

He emphasised the profound impact of the VGGS on Gujarat's economic landscape, highlighting that the summit has played a pivotal role in elevating Gujarat's Gross State Domestic Product (GSDP) from ₹1.42 lakh crore in 2003 to ₹22.61 lakh crore in 2023.

Chief Minister Bhupendrabhai Patel attributed this growth to the VGGS, which he described as a unique platform for uniting global investors and thought leaders. The CM claimed that the summit has evolved into a global hub for business networking and strategic partnerships aimed at fostering socio-economic development under the leadership of PM Narendra Modi.

In addition to these accomplishments, the Chief Minister also lauded the Mumbai-Ahmedabad bullet train project, highlighting its potential to strengthen the social ties between Gujarat and Mumbai. A significant portion of the Delhi-Mumbai Industrial Corridor, approximately 38%, passes through Gujarat, further enhancing its economic significance. Moreover, progress is underway on the high-speed Mumbai-Ahmedabad rail corridor, a crucial initiative that promises to bolster the logistics sector and economic activities in both Gujarat and Mumbai.

Bhupendrabhai Patel emphasised the upcoming wave of economic growth in Gujarat, driven by forward-looking industrial infrastructure projects like GIFT City, DREAM City, the Hybrid Solar and Wind Renewable Energy Park, and Dholera SIR. Gujarat's prominence in the diamond trade was also acknowledged, with Surat being recognised as the central hub for polished diamonds and playing a significant role in the lab-grown diamond industry. The Chief Minister announced plans to organise seminars and events dedicated to emerging sectors under the theme "Gateway to the Future" at the forthcoming Vibrant Summit.

Notably, Gujarat is responsible for 80 per cent of the nation's diamond exports, underscoring its influence in this industry. The Mumbai road show saw participation from around 35 diplomats and over 350 leaders from various business and industry sectors.

Israeli PM announces wartime emergency government

Opposition leader Benny Gantz, defence minister Yoav Gallant in Netanyahu's war cabinet

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and a top opposition leader on Wednesday reached a deal to form a wartime unity government to oversee the operations against Palestinian militant group Hamas amid escalating violence in the region that has so far claimed the lives of over 2,200 people.

Benny Gantz, the leader of the National Unity party, who had earlier indicated that he was willing to unconditionally join an emergency unity government to boost Israel's war efforts released what he said was a joint statement with Netanyahu.

Gantz, who served as a Defence Minister and also Chief of Staff of the Israel Defence Forces (IDF) in the past, said that they would form a five-member "war-management" Cabinet, which will consist of Netanyahu, current Defence Minister Yoav Gallant, two other top officials serving as "observers" and himself as members.

The statement stressed that the government would not pass any legislation or decisions that are not connected to the war as long as the fighting continues.

Main opposition leader Yair Lapid was also invited to join the new Cabinet but he did not respond to the offer so far.

The move received support from unexpected quarters in Israeli politics which looked divided into two wide factions not long ago on the question of the judicial overhaul initiative of the government.

The judicial overhaul initiative interpreted by many as an effort to undermine the authority of the judiciary led to massive protests across the country for 39 consecutive weeks and there was one planned also on the day the war started.

Right-wing extremist leader, National Security Minister Itamar Ben Gvir, who was seen as one of the only members of the government dragging his feet on establishing a unity coalition, wrote on platform X shortly after the announcement that he "welcomes unity, now we need to win." Israel, which mobilised 3,60,000 reservists, has vowed an unprecedented offensive against Hamas, which rules the Gaza Strip. Agencies

First shipment of US weapons reach Israel

The first shipment of advanced US weapons and equipment have landed in Israel to boost the US ally in its war with Hamas, the Israel Ministry of Defence said on Wednesday.The video footage and images released by Israel's Ministry of Defence showed the landing of a cargo plane that delivered the initial shipment of equipment procured and brought to the country through a joint operation

At least 22 Americans killed: US State Dept

At least 22 US citizens have been killed since Hamas militants launched a massive attack against Israel, the US State Department said Wednesday, with Washington pledging firm support for its close ally. "At this time, we can confirm the deaths of at least 22 US citizens. We extend our deepest condolences to the victims and to the families," State Department said

UK warns against waiving Palestine flag

UK Home Secretary Suella Braverman has warned that activities that are considered legitimate under usual circumstances may not be legitimate, including the waving of Palestinian flags on British streets if the purpose is to "glorify acts of terrorism". Where such harassment (of Jews in the UK) is identified, the minister called on police forces to take swift and appropriate action

ISRAEL BOMBS AREAS IN LEBANON AFTER HEZBOLLAH ATTACKS

JERUSALEM

ISRAEL shelled south Lebanon on Wednesday following rocket fire from the border area, Lebanese state media said, the latest exchange on Israel's northern border.

"The area around Dhayra is being bombarded by enemy artillery, while the area around Yarin is being hit with phosphorus shells," Lebanon's National News Agency said, earlier reporting "two rockets fired from Lebanese territory".

The Israeli military said "in response to the anti-tank missiles that were launched at... soldiers a short while ago, the IDF (army) is currently striking in Lebanese territory".

Hezbollah, in a statement, said it "targeted a Zionist (Israeli) position... facing Dhayra village, with guided missiles," in a "firm response to Zionist attacks... which led to the martyrdom of a number of brothers."

It warned of a "decisive" response to Israeli attacks "targeting our country and the security of our people, especially when these attacks lead to the deaths of martyrs".

"This step will not frighten... resistance factions that are ready for confrontation," Hezbollah said.

Both Israel and its closest ally the United States have warned Hezbollah against opening a second front as Israel battles Hamas. The Israeli army is "prepared for any scenario", spokesman Daniel Hagari said.

"Hezbollah is observing what Israel is doing in Gaza, it sees the volume of the destruction. Hezbollah sees this and understands," he said. Israel has been retaliating to daily fire from Lebanon, which began after Hezbollah launched rockets on a disputed border area on Sunday. In 2006, Hezbollah and Israel fought a devastating 34-day war that left more than 1,200 people dead in Lebanon. AFP

Egypt warned Israel three days before attack, says US senator

WASHINGTON

ISRAEL got a warning from Egypt of potential violence three days before Hamas caught Israeli forces off-guard in a large-scale attack, the chairman of the powerful US House Foreign Affairs Committee said Wednesday.

"We know that Egypt has warned the Israelis three days prior that an event like this could happen," Republican Michael McCaul told reporters following a closed-door intelligence briefing for lawmakers on the crisis.

"I don't want to get too much into classified (details), but a warning was given," he said. "I think the question was at what level," he said.

Hamas' ability to remain undetected while preparing and launching such a big, complex assault from the closely monitored and heavily guarded Gaza strip represents an unprecedented intelligence failure for US ally Israel. McCaul said the attack may have been planned as long as a year ago.

"We're not quite sure how we missed it. We're not quite sure how Israel missed it," he told reporters. Cairo has not commented officially on suggestions that it may have offered an early warning. But Egyptian media with close ties to the country's intelligence services on Wednesday quoted senior security sources denying Israeli press reports that such a warning was issued.

Since the assault, Egypt has intensified its push for diplomatic efforts to de-escalate the spiralling violence. AFP

'War to uproot Hamas will send a message to all other militants'

JERUSALEM

Israel's war to "uproot" Palestinian Islamist group Hamas will deter militants from carrying out attacks across the world, the country's Intelligence Minister Gila Gamliel said. "We have to uproot it so it doesn't happen, there won't be any option, even a thought, to others in the world that they could use what happened (in Israel) as a model" for future attacks, Gamliel said.

Israeli Defence Minister Yoav Gallant has vowed to "eliminate" anyone affiliated with Hamas, telling forces he had removed any "restrictions" from Israel's military campaign.

Gamliel backed the stance, saying the atrocities committed by Hamas militants on Israeli civilians they murdered and the support they received from the Palestinians in Gaza revoked their "right to exist as rulers, as a military entity — to exist at all."

"When you see those horrors," she said, "you understand you cannot let these people rule the public in Gaza." Gamliel said it was not the right time to discuss the intelligence failure that enabled Hamas to breach Israel's southern border. For now, the focus is on eradicating the Islamist militants. AFP

EARTHQUAKE RATTLES AFGHANISTAN AGAIN

CHAHAK

ANOTHER strong earthquake shook western Afghanistan on Wednesday morning after an earlier one killed more than 2,000 people and flattened whole villages in Herat province.

The magnitude 6.3 earthquake on Wednesday was about 28 kilometres outside Herat, the provincial capital, and 10 kilometres deep, according to the US Geological Survey. It triggered a landslide that blocked the main Herat-Torghondi highway, Information Ministry spokesman Abdul Wahid Rayan said.

Janan Sayiq, a spokesman for the Afghan Taliban government's national disaster authority said Wednesday's earthquake killed at least one person and injured around 120 others.

The aid group Doctors Without Borders said Herat Regional Hospital received 117 who got injured in Wednesday's temblor. The group said it sent additional medical supplies to the hospital and was setting up four more medical tents at the facility. "Our teams are assisting in triaging emergency cases and managing stabilised patients admitted in the medical tents," it said on X.

Wednesday's quake also flattened all 700 homes in Chahak village, which was untouched by the tremors of previous days. Now there are mounds of soil where dwellings used to be. But no deaths have been reported so far in Chahak.

Villagers are distraught over the loss of their homes as well as livestock, often their only possessions, and worry about the coming harsh winter months. AP

‘250 TCS employees in Israel; keeping watch on situation’

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT companies Tata Consultancy Services and Wipro said that they are monitoring the situation in Israel as the country’s tension with Palestine remained at elevated level.

On Wednesday, TCS said over 250 employees are in Israel and that they are in touch with employees, customers, and are ensuring that they are safe. N Ganapathy Subramaniam, COO and executive director, said most flights are put on hold or cancelled. “We will see how it evolves,” he said, adding safety of employees is a primary factor.

Of 250 employees, a good number of them are locals as well and some have gone there for project execution. The executives said they spoke with their customers and they are in touch with them. “I can’t say business as usual. We are working with our customers and are listening to them about what they are planning for their own workforce,” he said.

TCS is working in Israel’s public sector on several key digital transformation initiatives. It has its presence in Israel since 2005. In April this year, the firm said it has a strong interest in Israeli technology, innovation, and start-up ecosystem. Wipro has about 80 employees in Israel, all of whom are Israeli nationals and have been accounted for, it said in a statement.

“We are advising all employees in the country to work from home until further notice and follow the safety measures put in place by the local government. We are monitoring the situation closely and are ready to activate business continuity plans should there be a further escalation of events,” it added.

TCS to buy back ₹17k cr share; net profit up 9%

With consolidated net profit at ₹11,342 cr, it marginally beats profit estimates; revenue rises 7.9% to ₹59,692 crore

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

COUNTRY’S largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) on Wednesday announced share buyback for ₹17,000 crore at ₹4,150 a share, a premium of about 15%.

The Board of Directors has approved a proposal to buyback up to 4,09,63,855 equity shares representing 1.12% of the total paid-up equity share capital, the company said.

It marginally beat profit estimates and posted a 8.7% increase in its second quarter (Q2) consolidated net profit at ₹11,342 crore. Revenue for the September quarter stood at ₹59,692 crore, up 7.9% year-on-year (YoY). Operating margin for the quarter stood at 24.3%, an expansion of 0.3% YoY.

The company announced that it has over 100,000 pool of Gen-AI ready consultants, and has over 250 Gen-AI opportunities in the pipeline. Its order book for Q2 stood at $11.2 billion. Despite macroeconomic uncertainties, it displayed strong execution in Q2, said K Krithivasan, CEO and MD, TCS. “Clients want to invest in newer technologies and they are pausing some of the ongoing projects. While the order book is strong, it is not reflecting in the revenue growth,” he added.

The company said it has completed a probe into the bribes-for-jobs scandal that rocked the company. Earlier at its annual general meeting (AGM), it was informed that it banned six employees and six business associate firms.

As far as hiring is concerned, TCS said it will honour all offerings. This quarter, its headcount fell by 6,333 employees. About 70% of its workforce is already coming to office five days a week. Milind Lakkad, chief HR officer, TCS, said they have hired a large number of people in the last three years and they believe they need to come to work so that the new workforce gets integrated with the larger workforce of TCS.

On variable pay, the company said 70% of the workforce will get 100% variable pay. The company announced ₹9 dividend per share. N Ganapathy Subramaniam, chief operating officer and executive director, said during the quarter, BSNL awarded the project to integrate and deploy a modern, indigenous pan-India 4G and 5G mobile network.

Govt’s regional connectivity scheme UDAN achieves milestone of 500 routes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

SINCE its launch in 2017, flights have commenced on 500 routes under the government’s ambitious regional connectivity scheme (RCS), Ude Desh Ka Aam Nagrik (UDAN), according to the government sources.

Data available with the Airport Authority of India shows a total of 493 routes have seen flight services as of October 3, 2023. Recent additions, mostly in Southern India, in the fifth phase of the scheme, have pushed the milestone number to 500, the sources said.

A total of five rounds have taken place so far under which different routes have been awarded to different airlines. Maximum flights commenced in Round 3 (165 routes), followed by Round 2 (152 routes).

While launching the 5th round of the connectivity scheme earlier this year, civil aviation minister J Scindia had said this new and stronger version of the scheme would raise the momentum, connecting new routes and bring us closer to the target of operationalising 1,000 routes and 50 additional airports, heliports and water aerodromes in near future.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched the scheme on April 27, 2017, by flagging off the regional flights between Delhi and Shimla, and also between Kadapa-Hyderabad-Nanded. The scheme was launched to connect small and medium cities with big cities through air service at affordable prices.

Govt approves royalty rates for lithium, niobium, rare earth

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Wednesday sanctioned royalty rates for three pivotal and strategic minerals -- lithium, niobium, and rare earth elements (REEs).

The Cabinet approval of specification of rate for royalty will enable the government to auction blocks for lithium, niobium and REEs for the first time for the private sectors. The royalty rates on these minerals are -- lithium at 3% of the London Metal Exchange price, niobium at 3% of the average sale price, both for primary and secondary sources, and for REE the rate will be 1% of the average sale price of rare earth oxide.

“Critical minerals have become essential for economic development and national security in the country. Critical minerals such as lithium and REEs have gained significance in view of India’s commitment towards energy transition and achieving net-zero emission by 2070,” reads the government statement. Recently, the Mines and Minerals (Development and Regulation) Amendment act, 2023, was passed. The amendment, among other things, delisted six minerals, including lithium and niobium, from the list of atomic minerals, thereby allowing grant of concessions for these minerals to the private sector through auction.

Govt notifies several changes to PLI scheme for ACs, LED lights

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Commerce & Industry on Wednesday announced key changes to the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme for white goods, specifically air conditioners (ACs) and LED lights to simplify its operation and enhance the ease of doing business in the sector.

This was done in response to feedback from beneficiaries and industry associations. One notable change is the adoption of the cost-plus method, which replaces the previous comparable uncontrolled price (CUP) method for calculating sales prices. This change applies particularly to captive consumption or supplies to group companies. In line with this, the definition of ‘Arm’s length’ has also been amended.

According to the revised guidelines, the scheme will now include investments in tool rooms for manufacturing moulds & dies as eligible capital investments.

An extension of one year has also been granted for informing the authorities about the establishment of additional manufacturing facilities. Previously, beneficiaries had two years to provide this information.

In terms of administrative procedures, the last date for claim submission and refunding excess incentives has been revised. This change allows beneficiaries to rectify any discrepancies between statutory compliance and the records provided at the time of filing claims.

Furthermore, the Administrative Ministry will now conduct site visits to ensure compliance with the scheme guidelines. Additionally, the scheme now permits the rollover of bank guarantees.

“The inflows have slowed down compared to last month but are still positive at Rs 14,000 crore. The valuation of the market is not cheap and investors are waiting on the sidelines to use any downside to increase allocation,” says Mukesh Kochar, National Head of Wealth at AUM Capital.

Inflows data show investors’ confidence in mid and small-cap funds have not waned yet as both the category funds saw over ₹2,000 crore net inflows in September.

PCB chief set to visit India for marquee tie

Lahore: PCB chief Zaka Ashraf will reach Ahmedabad on Thursday to watch his nation's marquee clash against India on Saturday after it was confirmed that Pakistani media personnel were given the go ahead to submit their passports for procurement of visa to cover the global event. Around 60 Pakistani journalists have applied.

I felt like I was playing a match in Pindi (Rawalpindi). The way the crowd gave love today (Tuesday), and not just me, the whole Pakistan team got love.

— Mohammed Rizwan, Pak batter on playing in Hyderabad

DELHI SPECIAL SHARMA ROLE

India skipper's explosive century takes team home against Afghanistan; Bumrah shines with ball to take four wickets

GOMESH S @ New Delhi

IT was the fourth ball of the final over in the Afghanistan innings at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, New Delhi. The stadium was slowly filling up as dusk started setting in. Rohit Sharma had four fielders inside the ring on the off-side and one more on the leg, trying to attack Afghanistan's No. 9 — Naveen-ul-Haq. The scoreboard read 266 for 8. Mohammed Siraj, who'd conceded just two runs in the first three balls, ran in and delivered a short and wide delivery, which Naveen slashed behind point for a boundary.

Rohit, understandably, was upset, covering his face with his hands. In what is one of the most batting-friendly pitches, Jasprit Bumrah had bowled a sensational spell of 4/39 to restrict Afghanistan from 224/4 to 261/8. The Indian captain knew the significance of the performance and also of every run that was conceded. While the conditions did favour Indian batting, the match-ups were not very conducive. Afghanistan had spinners who could make an early run in. Which is why, despite the target of 273 being chaseable, India needed an explosive start.

Now, Rohit has scored a few fifties in the lead up to the World Cup. However, with the early dismissal against Australia, he needed a good knock to get that out of the way to keep his World Cup going as he would want. He also knew that Mujeeb Ur Rahman can trouble him early on. After rotating strike in the first over against Mujeeb, he flicked Fazalhaq Farooqi to the ropes. In Mujeeb's next over, he pulled the spinner over midwicket to the boundary. Whether it was the trigger or not you would never know, but from thereon, it was no stopping him.

Rohit charged at Farooqi and launched him over long-off. He followed it up with a flick and a cover drive in the same over. A chip over mid-off, a slash behind point and a pull behind square in the seventh over meant, he had hit Farooqi out of the attack. Naveen wasn't spared and neither was Azmatullah Omarzai. Mid-on. Square-leg. Midwicket. Long-off. Not a single area on the field was left to conquer. Rohit's opening partner Ishan Kishan stood at the other end as a mere spectator. Rohit was middling the ball quite effortlessly. The fresh wicket in the beginning of the season was playing true and looked promising for batting.

Then there were the records. The fifty came in 30 balls. He had surpassed Chris Gayle, hitting more sixes than anyone in international cricket — something he actually wanted next to his name. But he was just getting started. When Mujeeb came back again in the ninth over, Rohit was beyond match-ups. None of it mattered at this point except the fact that he was going to hit every ball where he wants to. Rohit swept Mujeeb for a four, then glanced, and deftly lofted him over extra cover all in a span of three overs that India went past the 100-run mark in 12 overs. If one were to understand his dominance, after 14 overs India were 125/0; Rohit 88 (52), Ishan Kishan 30 (32). The game was already won.

Rohit, the batter, however was not done. He and Kishan kept the scoreboard ticking over the next few overs as the 36-year-old closed in on his century. If there was one area where he did not hit was probably behind square on off-side and he guided Mohammad Nabi through short-third-man region to get to 99. The single that followed was just a formality, but it was significant on so many levels. With this 63-ball hundred, Rohit surpassed Sachin Tendulkar to become the player with most centuries in the World Cup. It was also the fastest WC ton by an Indian. His celebration after reaching the milestone said it all. Rohit removed his helmet and raised his bat, acknowledging the crowd who had come in late perhaps to escape the heat. He had to wait nine months for this. It was only his second ODI ton since the pandemic broke, the last one coming against New Zealand in January 2023.

Rohit was delighted with his performance.

"It's something I've been working on for a while. Special to get a World Cup 100. Very happy about that. Don't want to think about records too much because I know there's a long way to go ahead and not to lose my focus and what's required. Just want to make it count on days like this," he said.

NUMBERS THAT MATTER

Rohit has hit most sixes in international cricket followed by Chris Gayle's 553

Rohit Sharma holds the record for most WC hundreds followed by Sachin Tendulkar (6) and Kumar Sangakkara (5)

Brief scores: Afghanistan 272/8 in 50 ovs (Shahidi 80, Omarzai 62; Bumrah 4/39, Hardik 2/43) lost to India 273/2 in 35 ovs (Rohit 131, Virat 55 n.o, Ishan 47).

'Santner will be key for NZ'

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

NEW Zealand's ace spinner Mitchell Santner is enjoying splendid form. His fifer helped New Zealand beat Netherlands by 99 runs in their second World Cup game. He was deservedly adjudged as Player of the Match after that win.

With the wickets in India and in particular at Chepauk being spinner-friendly, Santner is expected to play a big role in his country's campaign.

Despite his good show against Netherlands, Santner felt that he was not at his best and there was scope for improvement.

"Not too bad, credit to the boys (Kiwi) upfront with the bat, they gave us a nice platform. There was a bit of a hole in the middle but we did well to get past 320. It skidded a bit under lights but we contained them and bowled well. It was nice tonight (Monday), got a lot of purchase, didn't bowl my best tonight but was happy to get the rewards. We hung in and picked wickets in partnerships, we managed to take wickets like we did against England to slow them down," said Santner after the match.

On Friday, New Zealand will be up against Bangladesh at Chepauk and all eyes will once again be on the genial all-rounder. Chepauk is the home ground of Chennai Super Kings and Santner, being one of their key players, will be familiar with the conditions and also enjoy crowd support. "Santner is a brilliant all-rounder. A team man. He can bat, bowl and field with equal intensity. A rare talent. He has been bowling brilliantly in the World Cup. Last game (Netherlands), he was spot on. Bangladesh should be wary of him," said L Balaji, former India player, who has coached Santner when he was the bowling coach of CSK.

The wicket for Friday's game is expected to be similar to the one that India and Australia played and would aid spin as the match progresses. "Santner would do well against Bangladesh too. He will enjoy the crowd support too. He is well aware of the conditions and the wicket. So, New Zealand will look to him to deliver," noted Balaji.

In India, bowling all-rounders are the key for a team's success. India depend a lot on Ravindra Jadeja to give vital breakthroughs and also score some important runs. "Santner will play a role similar to that of Ravindra Jadeja in the World Cup for New Zealand. In our home conditions, a spinning-all rounder is an asset. Santner, like Jadeja, will be the key for New Zealand's success, especially in close games."

Gill flies to Ahmedabad

NEW DELHI: After missing two back-to-back World Cup games due to Dengue fever, steadily recovering Shubman Gill has flown to Ahmedabad from Chennai ahead of India's clash against Pakistan. The opener still remains a doubtful starter for the marquee clash against Pakistan on Saturday.

Giant totals, massive sixes could be the flavour of WC'23

GOMESH S @ New Delhi

INDIA skipper Rohit Sharma was in his elements on Wednesday. The Afghanistan bowlers were struggling on a batting wicket. That he could play most of his shots in the front foot was an indicator that the pitch was flat and high-scoring. Even though India managed to restrict Afghanistan to 272 for eight, they overhauled the target with relative ease.

In the lead up to the 2019 ICC Men's ODI World Cup in England, all the talk was about how it is going to be a high-scoring tournament and could even be the highest in the history of the Cup. And there was some merit to it. Between 2015-19, England had created a brand of white-ball cricket and surfaces that changed the way teams approach the format. They were putting up 350-plus scores for fun in bilaterals at home.

However, that was not how the tournament went about. There were just 26 300-plus totals in 86 innings when teams got to bat first with the highest score being 396/7 by England against Afghanistan. As the tournament progressed, pitches slowed down so much that team totals during all three knockout games were below 250. And the average team total for the event was around 251.

World Cups often can be a tricky tournament and predictions are hard to make especially in the current format (ten teams, 45 league games before knockouts). And in the four years since the England edition, the game has moved on so much — two T20 World Cups and as many World Test Championships — that there is a question over the relevancy of the 50-over format itself. While that is a topic for a separate discussion, teams have become more enterprising in the way they approach ODIs.

NUMBERS AFTER 1ST WEEK
WC Edition	2019	2023
No of games	9	9
AVG team total	225	272*

*Till India-Afghanistan match on October 11

Despite India having the reputation of preparing batting beauties, the debate on record totals being breached were not to be heard ahead of the 2023 edition. This World Cup is different and the scores in the first week tell a new story. There have been six 300-plus totals in nine games.

Barring Chennai, rest of the venues have been largely batter-friendly. Hyderabad saw a slew of high-scoring games, including Pakistan chasing 345 against Sri Lanka. England scored 364/9 in Dharamshala against Bangladesh. What more, South Africa broke the record for the highest team score in the history of the tournament — 428/5 against Sri Lanka in New Delhi. The average team total till the Pakistan-Sri Lanka game was 272 (approx) in comparison to the 225 in the first week of the England edition. It has been only a week, and a few more venues are yet to host a match. However, it should not come as a surprise should the trend continue. Bengaluru, Delhi, Mumbai and Kolkata have been batting-friendly venues for a while and to an extent, so is Ahmedabad. In Lucknow, the pitches have been relaid after the IPL and it will be interesting to see how it behaves.

The key difference from the 2011 edition is that this World Cup is happening at the beginning of the domestic season. The pitches in the grounds are largely fresh and the weather is such that the wear and tear might not be what it is during February-May. Which is why, former India fielding coach R Sridhar expects a high-scoring event as well. "Surely, we are coming out of the monsoon (South West) in most parts of India," he said. "The pitches are quite fresh, it's the beginning of the season as far as the Indian season is concerned. I am expecting a lot of action in terms of stroke play, and it is going to be great for spectators." He also said that there will be games where bowlers will have an upper hand.

ZAMPA vs VAN DER DUSSEN

Rashid van der Dussen has grown into one of the pillars of South Africa middle-order. His spin-hitting ability will be a challenge for Australia, especially against Adam Zampa. The South African averages 68.4 while striking at 104.18 against spin in ODIs since 2020

EYES ON CAPTAIN PAT

Pat Cummins might have led admirably in Tests, but hasn't done as much in ODIs. It will be interesting to see how he uses the likes of Zampa against a team like South Africa

43.25

Aiden Markram, who smashed the fastest WC hundred in New Delhi last week, averages 43.25 while striking at 107.45 against Australia

RABADA vs MARSH

Mitch Marsh, when in full flow, can take down bowling attacks with ease. However, he has blown hot and cold and would be itching to make a mark against South Africa. The biggest threat for him would be Kagiso Rabada up front with the new ball. How Marsh handles the pacer would be interesting to see

2014 U-19 WC to 2023 WC: SL pair's partnership goes on

FIROZ MIRZA @ Hyderabad

KUSAL Mendis was captain while Sadeera Samarawickrama was his deputy when Sri Lanka finished eighth in the 2014 U-19 World Cup in the United Arab Emirates. The duo has a lot of similarities as both are right-hand batters and keep wickets.

A natural talent blessed with sound technique coupled with aggressive instinct, Mendis, however, rose rapidly through the age-group cricket to make his Test debut only at the age of 20. Had it not been his off-field issues including a road accident wherein a cyclist succumbed to his injuries in hospital and breach of bio-bubble during Sri Lanka's England tour in 2021, the 28 year-old might have even been made captain of the team given his show with the willow. Samarawickrama, on the other hand, has to work hard to make it to the senior team. It eventually happened but almost two years after Mendis' induction into the side.

Given the contrasting journeys they had had to the highest level, one cannot help but revisit their past when the two combined to forge a century partnership for Sri Lanka against Pakistan in a World Cup match here at the Rajiv Gandhi International Cricket Stadium, Hyderabad on Monday. They together scored 111 runs off just 69 balls to give impetus to Sri Lanka's innings as the Islanders posted a formidable total of 344/9 after opting to bat. Both scored a century each with Samarawickrama (108 off 89) hitting his maiden ODI ton.

India ranks second in list of most popular tourist destinations

WHILE Maldives has been voted the most popular destination among tourists, the second-most popular destination is none other than India!

As per a research conducted by the agency Bounce, India had over 14.78 lakh total searches, only behind the Maldives, which had 24.57 lakh Google searches.

The third in the list is Singapore, with 12.24 lakh Google searches. The data shared was collected over the course of one year.

Costa Rica came fourth with a little over 10.67 lakh searches, while Mexico came next with 10.59 lakh searches. Japan was next in the list with 10.51 lakh Google searches.

The seventh most searched tourist destination in the world was Jamaica with just under 10.22 lakh searches.

Greece, Bahamas and Australia filled out the top 10 with 9.98 lakh searches, 9.57 lakh searches and 8.67 lakh Google searches, respectively.

All these three countries are popular for the stunning landscapes and the amazing views they offer. While Maldives is a honeymoon destination, India has a more diverse set of destinations for tourists, like beaches, historic monuments like the Taj Mahal and Qutub Minar, temples, valleys, mountainous retreats, among several others.

Singapore, though is popular among tourists for its futuristic attractions and luxury hotels, which are present aplenty.

Airbnb & the effects it has on tourism

A new research states Airbnb contributes over ₹72 billion to the country's GDP

NEW research from Oxford Economics found Airbnb is an important pillar of India's tourism industry, contributing over USD 920 million (₹72 billion) to Gross Domestic Product and supporting over 85,000 Indian jobs in 2022 alone.

The GDP contribution and jobs supported in India has more than doubled since 2019 despite the Covid-19 outbreak and international border restrictions.

The report also highlighted the powerful multiplier effect Airbnb guest spending has within local communities. In 2022, Airbnb guests spent a total of USD 815 million (₹64 billion) in India in areas like purchases on transportation, restaurants, and retail stores. The guests spent in 2022 more than doubled the 2019 levels.

In India, Airbnb's presence was the highest in Goa, where its guests' spending amounted to almost USD 190 million (₹14.8 billion), this was followed by Bengaluru and Delhi, Mumbai and Manali.

It details the significant contribution made by Airbnb guests to domestic tourism across the nation.

In 2022, domestic Airbnb guest spending totalled USD 670 million (₹52.6 billion), and accounted for approximately 82 per cent of total Airbnb guest spend in India, around a three-fold increase from 2019.

Airbnb's presence was the highest in Goa, where its guests' spending amounted to almost USD 190 million

The report also explores two profound changes in travel behaviour since the pandemic — the dispersal of tourism away from urban areas, and long-term stays driven by the emergence of flexible work arrangements.

James Lambert, Director for Economic Consulting in Asia for Oxford Economics said, Airbnb has clearly played a major role in the resilience and rebirth of the Indian travel and tourism sector in the wake of the Covid-19 pandemic.

"Airbnb has been at the heart of some of the trends reshaping the nation's travel and tourism industry, including the shift in travel away from cities and towards more rural communities, and the increase in demand for long-stay trips, exemplified by the live and work anywhere phenomenon," Lambert said.

"Domestic travellers have been crucial to the tourism sector's resilience over the past three years as Indian guests saw opportunities in domestic travel as a substitute for international holidays, with self-drive and regional trips increasing in popularity, which led to a wider dispersion of tourism spend outside the traditional or 'popular' destinations in India."

Amanpreet Bajaj, Airbnb's general manager for India, Southeast Asia, Hong Kong and Taiwan said, "The economic contribution to both GDP and jobs driven by travel on Airbnb in India has created powerful economic ripple effects that have enabled the growth of local businesses, such as shops, restaurants, bars, and cafes — which are often central to how travellers experience a destination — and created job opportunities for the locals."

This report explores the 12 months to March 2023 — representing a year since travel restrictions started to be removed across India.

Stepping into the shoes of a diplomat

EXPRESS FEATURES

SANJANA Hiremath (23) from Hubballi, North Karnataka, became the British Deputy High Commissioner in Bengaluru for a day, getting a behind-the-scenes look at the life of a diplomat and seeing the UK-India partnership in action. The British High Commission in India has organised the 'High Commissioner for a Day' competition every year since 2017, to celebrate the International Day of the Girl Child (October 11).

Keeping it edgy & stylish

Corset tops are the new favourite among fashionistas. Though the style has a niche base owing to its bold style, B'lureans who do opt for them, share the right way to style them

MONIKA MONALISA

WHAT was popular in the 16th and 17th centuries in European countries, especially France, as a support garment commonly worn to hold and train the torso into a desired shape or support the breasts, corsets are a huge fashion statement now. The trends have been popular with many Hollywood celebrities, like Selena Gomez and Dakota Johnson, to name a few. Closer home in Bollywood, Khushi Kapoor, her sister Janhvi Kapoor, and Alia Bhatt are some who have also nailed the look.

Fashion student Brithivie Mohanraj, who is popularly known as Kanmani, says corset tops help her feel feminine. "I love trying everything in fashion, and as a fashion student, I explore different kinds of styles. I love the way the curves are accentuated in the corset top, which gives a strong feminine energy. When I wear corsets, it makes me feel confident, powerful, sexy, and connected to myself. Recently, I wore one from an indie label," says the 21-year-old, admitting that they are often not too comfortable.

When city-based designer Laxmi Krishna had to create something for actor Avneet Kaur, who was last seen in the movie Tiku Weds Sheru, opposite Nawazuddin Siddiqui , she paired her corset top with a skirt in a thin pin stripe. "Avneet is someone who loves trying out different trends and wants something fun. Corsets have that oomph factor, and she carried it off really well," says Krishna. She further adds, "Corsets are a versatile piece of garment if you know how to style them. You can pair it with a saree and have that indo-western look."

Amrita S, a model and fashion student, agrees. "I believe anyone can try anything; after all, fashion is also another form of art. Though only a few women try it out for its accentuated look, I believe every woman should. I love how it gives a nice shape to the torso area," says Amrita, whose corset top has gothic art prints on it.

Not just the top; you can also opt for a corset dress too, just like Monisha S, a city-based Masters student, has. "I actually got influenced by influencers and content creators. They style corsets in their own ways, and I love how creative they get with it. Now, I learnt that a corset can be perfect for any body type if styled well. My corset dress is actually a Wednesday-inspired look. It is one of my favourite outfits," says Monisha.

The Silent Sufferers: Caregivers' Battle with Mental Health Burden

SAMHITHA REDDY

IN October 2021, a research was published in 'The Lancet' stating that they found a 35% increase in mental health disorders among the Indian population, a statistic that seems trivial when placed amongst other global affairs but when chalked out individually, the number holds significant value.

The taboo affiliated with mental health in India is no shocking new news...it is an age old tradition passed down generation by generation, each of them threatening us that "therapy was only a thing for patients who had gone 'crazy'". But a 35% increase must either mean that more people have begun to go crazy or more people just pretended to ignore the ill effects of a mental disease.

According to the Public Health Foundation of India, depression and anxiety disorders happened to be the most common illnesses among Indians. Well, this has always existed. It just took us long to come to terms with the fact that not being mentally okay is okay. What does shock me is how little importance people give to the caretakers of these mentally ill patients.

With more awareness and a progressive development breaking through in the world of psychology and various mental illnesses, the simple notion of how one mentally sick person can affect the lives and mental health of many has yet not been talked about. You might have often heard of the phrase "therapist friend". The term is often used when talking about a friend who is usually the one person to go to when faced with everyday problems. In short, caretakers of mentally ill patients can be grouped together as the "therapist friend" as well.

When one discusses the situation of mental illness, the patient is given first priority for obvious reasons but how much priority is given to the people looking after him or her.

An anxious mother, a long forgotten brother or even a childhood friend...the people who came along seem to have an adverse impact on themselves as well.

Apart from anxiety, the individual also goes through the overwhelming burden of struggling with financial aid and coping with their own mental health. The impact a caregiver could face is tremendous; it is not only increase in anxiety but also lack of sleep, disturbed appetites and frequent mood swings. In a study by Ampalam, Gunturu and Padma it was seen that "Community-based studies proved that 18–47% of caregivers land in depression."

To be put in one term, all of these effects and difficulties are known as "caregivers burden" which is further classified into emotional, physical and financial burden. In the same study it was also seen that "The caregiver burden in families of psychiatric clients is statistically higher than that of caregivers of other medical illnesses" which is more of a reason why mental illnesses should be taken more seriously.

To help cope with the grueling situation and make it easier to deal with, there are plenty of ways to do so. Researching on the topic but not to a point where you become obsessed with the illness will likely ease your mind. Talking and spending time with people who have not been afflicted with the illness can tend to distract you and take your mind off the stress. If any of these solutions do not seem to appeal to you, an organiation under the name "Careflick Inc" has come up with a personalised aid and tool specifically for caregivers with the help of AI. "Yana" is a chatbot to which caregivers can either vent out to or ask about a specific condition

With the growing developments in the field of Psychology, to take the caregivers mental health and well being seriously needs to be a vital step in the process of treating a patient. It is not only the patient that needs to be thought about but also the people who surround the very patient.

(The author is a Student of Psychology from Greenwood International. She has travelled to rural Government Schools giving lectures on Stress Management.)

...these are key to early detection of breast cancer this October, which is known as Breast Cancer Awareness Month

VIGILANCE, SELF-EXAMINATION, AWARENESS

DR NITI KRISHNA RAIZADA

Breast Cancer Awareness Month serves as a reminder of the importance of early detection, understanding cancer causing factors, the challenges faced by young women, and emerging concerns like IVF-related breast cancer, breast cancer associated with implants, and the role of hormonal manipulations, including Oral Contraceptive Pills (OCPs) in breast cancer. Here are screening modalities, diagnostic techniques, treatment options, and prevention strategies.

Genetic Factors

Breast cancer can be influenced by genetic factors, which play a significant role in determining an individual's risk. Certain mutations in genes such as BRCA1 and BRCA2 besides others can substantially increase the likelihood of developing breast cancer. Genetic testing (in blood or saliva samples) can identify these mutations, enabling individuals to make informed decisions about their health. If a family history of breast cancer exists, genetic counselling and testing can be vital steps in understanding one's risk and taking preventive measures.

In Young Women

Breast cancer is associated with older women, but it can affect young women as well. This is a noticeable trend in India. Younger patients may face unique challenges, including delayed diagnosis due to lower screening rates and the assumption that breast cancer is primarily happens in elderly. Also pregnancy-related breast cancer maybe hard to diagnose. Fertility concerns are often raised by younger women who want to raise a family after breast cancer treatment. Vigilance, regular self-examinations, and awareness are crucial for early detection and effective treatment in young women.

IVF-Related Breast Cancer

In Vitro Fertilization (IVF) is a common fertility treatment, but recent research has raised concerns about its potential link to breast cancer. Some studies have suggested that the hormones used in IVF may increase breast cancer risk. However, more research is needed to establish a definitive connection. Women considering IVF should discuss these concerns with their healthcare providers and consider potential screening and preventive measures.

Associated with Implants

Breast augmentation with implants is a cosmetic procedure that can impact breast cancer detection and risk. Implants associated lymphomas(ALCL) and scar related SCC have been reported. Besides, detecting tumors maybe more challenging during mammography. Women with breast implants are recommended alternative screening methods such as MRI or ultrasound to ensure effective breast cancer detection.

Hormonal Manipulations and OCPs

Hormonal manipulations, including the use of Oral Contraceptive Pills (OCPs), have been a subject of research and discussion regarding their potential role in breast cancer development. Some studies have suggested a slight increase in breast cancer risk associated with long-term OCP use, particularly in women who began using them at a young age. However, the risk appears to decrease after discontinuing OCPs, and the overall risk remains relatively low.

Screening Modalities

Early detection is crucial for successful breast cancer treatment. Mammography remains the gold standard for breast cancer screening, recommended annually for women aged 40 and older. For younger women with dense breast tissue or those with breast implants, additional screening methods like MRI or ultrasound may be necessary. Regular clinical breast exams and self-examinations are also valuable tools for detecting breast cancer early.

Diagnostic Modalities and Treatment

If breast cancer is suspected, various diagnostic techniques are available, including biopsy, ultrasound-guided biopsy, and FNAC. Once diagnosed, treatment options may include surgery, radiation therapy, chemotherapy, targeted therapy, or hormone therapy, depending on the type and stage of cancer. Personalised treatment plans are essential to ensure the best outcomes, and patients should work closely with their healthcare team to make informed decisions about their care.

Prevention Strategies

Preventing breast cancer is a top priority, and there are several strategies individuals can adopt. Maintaining a healthy lifestyle, including regular exercise, a balanced diet, and limiting alcohol consumption, can reduce the risk of breast cancer. For those with a family history or genetic predisposition, risk-reduction strategies may include prophylactic surgery, increased surveillance, or considering alternative anti-hormones.

Children with diabetes achieve positive outcomes through Social Impact Programme

The three-year ongoing collaboration between the Research Society for the Study of Diabetes in India (RSSDI) and Sanofi has begun to show an impact on the lives of children with Type 1 Diabetes Mellitus (T1D). Over 1,300 T1D patients have been enrolled nationwide, including 90 from Karnataka. The programme is implemented by the People-to-People Health Foundation (PPHF). These children are receiving education on T1D management. Over nine-months (September 2022 to June 2023), the programme's intervention has reduced the number of children experiencing hypoglycaemia (1 to 4 times per week) by 46% (vs. 70%) and children experiencing hyperglycaemia (1 to 4 times per week) by 25% (vs. 52%).

THE VITAL ROLE OF VITAMIN D

DR. NARENDRA SHETTY

Vitamin D is a fat-soluble vitamin that is required for various key bodily activities and has long been known to help the body absorb and retain calcium and phosphorus, both of which are critical for building bones. It is unique in that it can be generated by the skin and received from dietary sources and supplements. Insufficiency can have a variety of health consequences because this vitamin is essential for many body activities. The following are some of the health hazards connected with vitamin D deficiency:

- Bone Health: Vitamin D is required for calcium and phosphate absorption in the intestines. A deficit can result in weakening bones, which can lead to diseases such as osteoporosis or osteomalacia (bone softening). This increases the likelihood of fractures and bone discomfort.
- Immune System: Vitamin D plays a role in immune system function. A deficit may increase the risk of infection and may be associated with autoimmune disorders.
- Mood Disorders: Some evidence suggests that low vitamin D levels are associated with mood disorders such as depression.
- Cardiovascular Health: There is evidence that vitamin D deficiency may raise the risk of heart disease, hypertension, and other cardiovascular disorders.
- Cancer: Some studies have revealed that low vitamin D levels are associated with an increased risk of various malignancies, such as breast, prostate, and colon cancer
- Diabetes: A lack of vitamin D has been linked to an increased risk of type 2 diabetes and insulin resistance.
- Inflammation: Vitamin D is known to have anti-inflammatory properties, and a lack of it may contribute to chronic inflammation, which has been related to a variety of health problems.
- Weakness in Muscles: Vitamin D is required for muscular function. Muscle weakness and soreness can result from a deficit.
- Infections: Adequate vitamin D levels may aid the body's ability to fight infections, such as respiratory infections. According to some research, it may be especially beneficial in lowering the risk of respiratory infections such as the flu and COVID-19.

It's worth noting that vitamin D insufficiency is rather widespread, particularly in areas with minimal solar exposure. Common strategies for managing and preventing deficiency include eating a balanced diet, spending time in the sun (with appropriate sun protection), and taking vitamin D supplements as directed.

Vitamin D insufficiency can cause a variety of symptoms, and treating it with natural therapies and lifestyle modifications can help. Here are some of the most frequent symptoms of vitamin D insufficiency, as well as natural remedies:

VITAMIN D DEFICIENCY SYMPTOMS INCLUDE:

- Fatigue: Excessive tiredness or fatigue is a common symptom.
- Muscle and bone discomfort might occur, most commonly in the lower back and legs.
- Infection vulnerability: An increased vulnerability to infections, particularly respiratory infections, may be an indication.
- Hair Loss: Low vitamin D levels can cause hair loss in some persons.
- Muscle Weakness: There may be general muscle weakness and difficulties completing physical duties.
- Impaired Wound Healing: Vitamin D deficiency may be associated with slow wound healing or recurrent skin infections.

NATURAL REMEDIES

- Natural sunlight is the most efficient approach to increase your vitamin D levels. Spend time outside with unprotected skin before 9 a.m. or after 4 p.m. in the evening.
- Some mushrooms contain vitamin D2, and some mushrooms that are sold commercially have higher levels of vitamin D2 because they have been purposefully exposed to a lot of ultraviolet light.
- Obesity is connected with reduced vitamin D levels because the vitamin is deposited in fat tissues. Maintaining a healthy weight will help you get more vitamin D
- Exercise: Regular physical activity can help increase muscle strength and overall health, thereby alleviating some of the symptoms of vitamin D deficiency.
- Balanced Diet: Make sure you're eating a well-balanced diet with enough nutrients, as your overall nutrition can affect your vitamin D levels and overall health.
- Intake of Magnesium: Adequate magnesium levels are required for the activation of vitamin D in the body. Magnesium-rich foods such as nuts, seeds, and leafy greens may help with vitamin D metabolism.

While natural therapies and lifestyle changes can help manage vitamin D insufficiency, severe shortages may necessitate medical intervention. Always seek specialised advice and treatment alternatives from a healthcare professional based on your specific circumstances. Furthermore, excessive vitamin D use should be avoided because it can cause toxicity, which might have negative health consequences.

It's worth noting that vitamin D insufficiency is rather widespread, particularly in areas with minimal solar exposure. Common strategies for managing and preventing Vitamin D deficiency include eating a balanced diet, spending time in the sun (with appropriate sun protection), and taking vitamin D supplements as directed.

MY NEXT HORROR FILM, DIRECTED BY LOHITH, IS EVEN SCARIER: PRIYANKA UPENDRA

The actor talks about her love for horror and her strong bond with director Lohith

A SHARADHAA

PRIYANKA Upendra, now a veteran of 50 films, had her first stint in horror with director Lohith H's Mummy - Save Me. She later collaborated with him in Devaki. After a seven-year hiatus, the actor and director are teaming up once again, which also marks Priyanka's return to the horror genre. Assuring that it will be scarier than their first collaboration, Priyanka said, "What sets it apart is Lohith's unique vision, which involves shooting the entire film with a full CCTV approach, unlike the mixed handheld CCTV and camera used in other films. I did have initial concerns about how well this kind of film, particularly in the horror genre, would turn out, but the early glimpses of it seem eerie and distinct.

The entire film was shot in Goa over a 30-day schedule. She added, "It's high time for me to explore diverse film roles, and the risk we took with this CCTV perspective has paid off, and the film will give the audience a different experience."

When asked about her decision to work with Lohith again, Priyanka shared, "In our first two collaborations, we built a strong rapport. He's like family to me, akin to a brother. He values my opinion and often discusses his projects with me. I had plans to launch my production with his direction, but unfortunately, COVID intervened, derailing our plans. However, we share a deep understanding. Lohith comprehends my acting style and resonates with it in his direction, and I trust his vision."

Priyanka has a penchant for horror films, and her shared interest in the genre with Lohith strengthened their bond. She mentioned, "My sister, brother, and I are aficionados of horror movies. We believe there is a dedicated audience for this genre." she says.

In addition to this project, Priyanka is also gearing up for Ugravatara and Detective Teekshana, each at different stages of production.

I had longed to produce a film under our banner: Raviraj

The project is being bankrolled by Radhika Kumaraswamy's brother, producer Raviraj under Sri Durgaparameshwari Productions. "This is my father's legacy, and after his passing, I took up the reins. We had previously distributed Anatharu, starring Upendra and Darshan, under this production house. I had longed to produce a film under our banner, and joining hands with Lohith and Priyanka Upendra for this venture marks our initial foray into film production," he says.
